Winnie Iler Dies, Age 93

Mrs. Edgar (Winnie) Iler, 93, died in Grace Hospital, Windsor, on Tuesday morning, April 25.

She was born in Colchester South township and lived here a lifetime. For a number of years, she operated a tourist camp, "Twin Gables", on her property bordering 18-A highway along Lake Erie.

Mrs. Iler was an ardent church worker and was a member of the Colchester Baptist Mission Circle and the Harrow Baptist Church.

Survivors include one son, Bruce of Troy, Mich., a daughter, (Ethel) Mrs. Robt. Holland of St. Petersburg, Fla., five grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

The funeral service will be conducted from the J. M. Madill Funeral Home on Friday, April 28 at 2:00 p.m. with Rev. Chas. McGrath officiating.

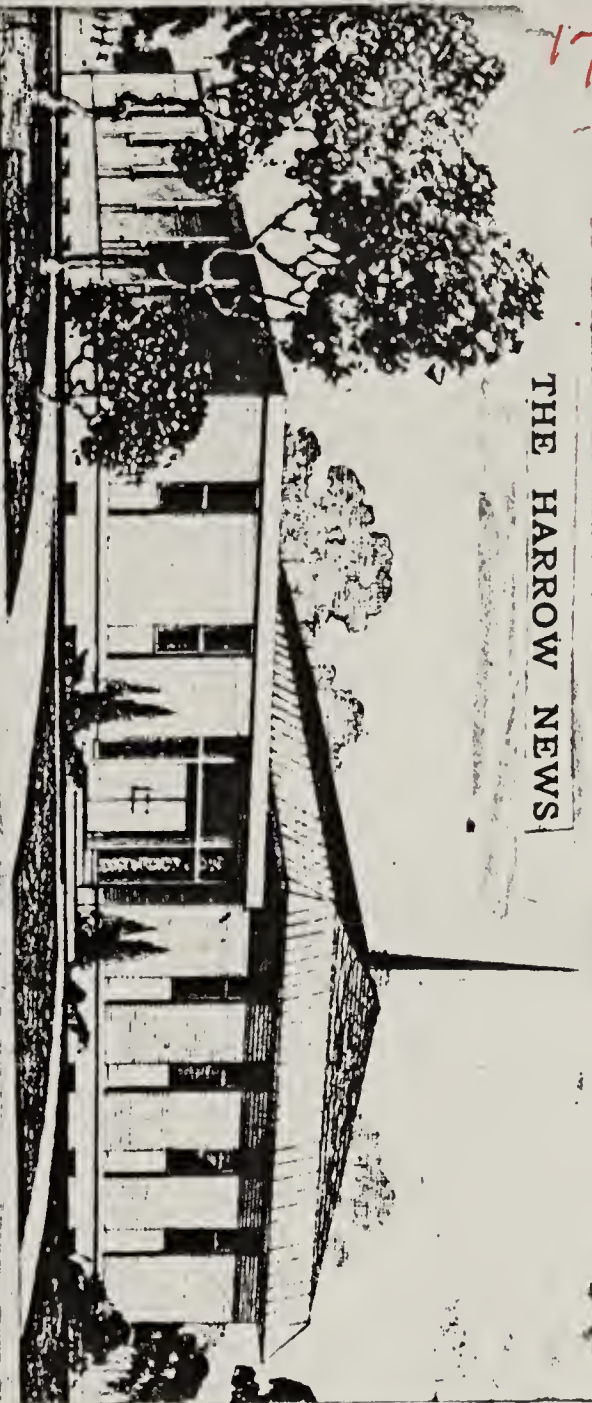

Burial will be made in Iler Cemetery.

"HAPPY BIRTHDAY".....to Mrs. Ed (Winnie) Iler, R.R. 1, Harrow, who marked her 90th birthday on Wednesday, September 18.

Mrs. Iler told the "News" cameraman, "times have really changed, I recall the good old horse and buggy days that kept my father busy as a harness-maker." Her father's harness-making shop was located a half-mile from her present home on 18-A highway across from Gordon Fox.

ILER—Mrs. Edgar (Winnie), April 25, 1967, 93 years at Grace Hospital, Windsor. Beloved mother of Bruce of Troy, Mich.; (Ethel), Mrs. Robert Holland of St. Petersburg, Fla. Nine grandchildren also survive. Resting at the J. H. Madill Funeral Home, Harrow. Funeral services Friday, April 28 at 2 p.m. Rev. Charles R. McGrath officiating. Interment Iler Cemetery.

Proposed new home for Harrow Baptist Church, Harrow, Ontario.

The church will be erected formerly the late J. K. McLean farm. Sod turning and party, directly across from construction is expected to the Fina Service Station, east start by April 15.

In 1842 Colchester Baptist Church was founded 8 miles south-east of the present village of Harrow on the shores of Lake Erie. Many pioneer families attended this church from the area then known as the Iler settlement. The descendants of many of these pioneer families still live in the area. This church had an effective witness as a result of their foresight. The village of Harrow was chosen for a branch work.

The work at Harrow prospered from the beginning and was officially recognized as a Regular Baptist Church in February of 1876. The congregation of Colchester and Harrow shared a pastor until the work in the Iler settlement was disbanded in 1931.

During the pastorate of Rev. Dean Burns, the Harrow Baptist Church became a member of the Fellowship of Evangelical Baptist Churches in Canada. In 1951 an addition to the church building provided more room for a Sunday School. In 1965 the

In 1967 under the leadership of Rev. Chas. McGrath planning was initiated for yet larger quarters. Because of soil conditions at the present site, a relocation was deemed advisable. A desirable lot at the town's eastern limits was purchased and plans completed ready for construction.

In 1969 Rev. Chas. McGrath left the charge after 17 years of faithful service and Rev. E. O. Clemens came to shepherd the flock. The new facilities will provide an expanding effective witness in the community and the continued support of the aggressive missionary program which is reaching Quebec and many foreign fields.

PICTURE FOUND

Mrs. William Murdoch, a former resident of Harrow, and now living in Amherstburg donated the above picture for reproduction. It is the Oxley Methodist Church and the picture was taken June 13, 1915.

The photo came to light through an advertisement placed by Ralph Wright in last week's issue of the Harrow "News". These and other pictures of an historical nature are being sought by Mr. Wright in an effort to compile a historical book on Harrow and Colchester.

Rev. McGrath laid to rest

Rev. Charles McGrath, 67, died in Windsor on Thursday, Feb. 4. It is believed Mr. McGrath suffered a heart attack on or before the day he was driving was involved in an accident.

Following graduation from the Toronto Baptist Seminary in 1930, Rev. McGrath served parishes in the west, northern and eastern Ontario. He was in charge of Harrow Baptist Church for 17 years, coming from Picton, Ont.

In the past couple years, Mr. McGrath was assistant pastor at Campbell Baptist Church, Windsor.

He is survived by his wife, Jean; two sons, Morley in Chatham and Edison of Toronto; four grandchildren.

The service was held at the Windsor church the evening on Saturday, Feb. 6 with Rev. James Rendle officiating. Burial was made in the Victoria Memorial Cemetery.

WELCOMED BY SANTA . . . Mrs. Ed Iler, over 90 years old, was the oldest ex-pupil who attended the Christmas Concert at SS#1, Iler School, Colchester South. This, in all probability, was the last Christmas concert to be held in the school due to the construction of the new central school in Harrow. Mrs. Iler took part in the program and had as much fun as the pupils.

Back in 1905, S.S. No. 1, boasted of a stone constructed type of school house and a fairly good enrolment.

Avocations of MBI Employees

Hundreds of Chicagoland Christians have added a musical dimension to their lives and ministries through the leadership of Bob Iler, assistant to the director of the MBI Music Department.

Ten years ago Mr. Iler founded The King's Couriers Ensemble, a 22-voice choir which now has approximately 60 alumni. The Couriers schedule church concerts as far away as Canada.

Mr. Iler also directs community presentations of The Messiah, with the interdenominational 100-voice choir now offering two annual concerts to accommodate all who attend. He has directed church choirs since he graduated from Moody's piano-organ major in 1949.

After further education at the American Conservatory of Music, he joined the MBI staff and also serves as both organist and choir director at Moraine Valley Baptist Church.

Mr. Iler's extra-curricular interests also involve geneology research, with concentration on nine action-packed generations of his family which floated to the New World in 1729. His ancestry was saturated with preachers, and everywhere the Ilers (or Ilar, Eilar, Eiler, Eyler, Ohler, Oyler, as some preferred to spell it) moved, churches were founded. The Iler homestead was a baptismal center, with some relatives so dedicated and eager for their Lake Erie immersion that they cut holes in its icy crust during winter. One remote relative was even named Dwight Moody Eiler.

However, even Mr. Iler's ancestry had their scandals. When his great-grandfather and great uncle were caught drag-racing (horse-and-buggy style) on Sunday, they were promptly excluded from church fellowship.

Mr. Iler's triple-great grandmother and her brother were kidnapped by Canadian Indians. He reports that seven years later, when the Indians were perplexed by some ice-skates they found, the brother demonstrated their use then sailed away to freedom. When her brother returned in three years to rescue her, Mr. Iler's grandmother had grown so attached to the Indian life-style that she at first refused to leave. He finally enticed his still youthful sister away with some hot gingerbread.

With two three-inch historical family scrapbooks in his office, and newspaper coverage of the achievements of his choirs, it's obvious that his multiple MBI-ministry is just one dimension of the man known at Moody as Bob Iler.

SHARI ILER, the "flutterbrain," and Bob Avant, the perpetual lover, appear to play their parts well in the school play, "The Marriage Machine."

J 675131

'Marriage Machine' Great

The Valentine's Day production of The Marriage Machine was up to the usual excellent standards of Columbia High's Thespian Troop 640. Barnard Newbound's satire on our "machine age" was capably and convincingly performed by this group of young actors.

Nikki Murray was Connie Drake, the scintillating scientist who finally discovered her sex. Bobby Avant, as Stan Parker, was the perpetual woman-lover of America who gave Connie helpful hints in her search.

Standing by in times of need was the mother image, Agnes, played by Anne Frey. Agnes was convinced that Connie needed a husband, and she was determined to do everything in her power towards that end.

Mixed and matched by the machine were Julie Rankin, played by Sherri Iler, and Charles Fenton, played by Mike McElroy. Julie, the "flutterbrain," only had plans to land a job, but ended up landing something much bigger. An absent-minded professor type, Charles was obviously "all wrong" for Julie — but tell that to the machine!

The supporting cast consisted of Marlene Greene, who delightfully portrayed the aging debutante, Mrs. DeWinter, and Martin Clements was her crotchety, but rich, beau. Teenage support was given by an "absolutely mental" Pam Brownell as Mavis Jones, and Steve Muller as Lester—"a regular whiz at geometry." Other matched-up couples were portrayed by Carmen Fowler and Ken Brightman, Becky Manolopoulos and Chan Priebe. Tom LaRiviere played Marvin, the maintenance man, Ken Staley was Mr. Sullivan, his employer.

BONNIE AND GILBERT BRANSON

Branson, Iler

Bonnie Jean Iler and Gilbert N. Branson were married in a wedding ceremony at the Epworth United Methodist Church in Berkeley. After the wedding, a reception was held at the church.

Bonnie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Iler of Richland, Wash. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Branson of Castro Valley.

Shari Rydman, sister of the bride, stood as matron of honor. Bridesmaid roles went to Debbie Dorst, Sandy Jacquish, and Laurie Anderson.

Gilbert chose Joel Graves as best man. Serving as ushers were Doug Anderson and Geoff and Gordon Branson.

The bride wore a candlelight polyester taffeta and satin gown.

The couple honeymooned in Lake Tahoe before returning to a Castro Valley address.

Ceremony of the Candles

The two outside candles of the unity candelabra have been lighted to represent our lives to this moment. They are two distinct lights, each capable of going their separate ways. To bring joy and happiness to our home, there must be the merging of the two lights into one light. This is what the Lord meant when He said, "On this account a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife and the two shall be one flesh."

From now on our thoughts shall be for each other rather than for our individual selves. Our plans shall be mutual, our joys and sorrows shall be shared alike.

As we each take a candle and together light the center one we will extinguish our own candles, thus letting the center candle represent the union of our lives into one flesh. As this one light cannot be divided, neither shall our lives be divided but a united testimony in a Christian home. May the radiance of this one light be a testimony of our unity in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Love is a gift that cannot be demanded

A blessing that comes from the heart

And all those who share it

*Find their thoughts
turning heavenward*

THE WEDDING CEREMONY OF

Brian and Debbie

June 2, 1979

adapted from a ceremony written by Marcia Krick (Strauss) and Dr. Richard Strauss for the wedding of Steve and Marcia Strauss, December 18, 1976.

Prelude Music: 1:45 PM.

2:00 PM: Grandparents and Parents are Seated:

- 1) Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holland--Cliff Schrauger;
- 2) Mrs. John Fletcher--Larry Schrauger;
- 3) Mrs. Grant Schrauger--Brian Schrauger;
- 4) Mrs. George Belon--Brian Schrauger.

Candlelighting: Cliff and Larry light the candles on either side of the platform at AN EQUAL RATE!! They then light the two parallel candles on the Unity candelabra LEAVING THE CENTER CANDLE UNLIT!

Prelude: "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," played by Charlie on the organ, accompanied by Cindy Bleil on the violin. IMMEDIATELY after the piece has ended, the party of the groom (including the groom!) enters, followed by Pastor Schrauger and Pastor Sugden who stand side by side at the center of the platform.

Processional: "Trumpet Voluntary" played by Charlie Loshbough. Party of the Bride enters: 1) Diane Kandel; 2) Kelli Kirkman; 3) Diana Belon; 4) Cynthia Carlson; 5) Deborah and Dad. WALK SLOWLY. KEEP KNEES BENT DURING THE CEREMONY. Who has the smelling salts just in case?? And how about the tissues?

Pastor Sugden: We are here this afternoon to witness the vows that Brian and Debbie will make to each other in the presence of God, and to share this joyful occasion with them.

A wedding ceremony is an event of great importance. First of all it provides an opportunity for those of us who are married to reaffirm our own marriage vows. As Brian and Deborah repeat their vows to one another, it would be beneficial for each of us to remember the commitment of unconditional love we have made with our spouses.

Most importantly, however, a wedding ceremony pictures the greatest truth the world has ever known. The Bible teaches that God instituted marriage, and that he intended the relationship between a husband and wife to picture the relationship between Christ and the Church; a relationship of love. Jesus said, "Greater love has no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends" (JOHN 15:13). He was referring to his own love for us; a love so great, he would willingly accept the sentence of capital punishment--death on a cross. There Jesus, the Son of God, would give his life as a legal payment for the debt of our sins. Thus "...God demonstrates his own love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (ROMANS 5:8). The Bible clearly teaches that all men are morally responsible to God. But no man can keep God's perfect and absolute standard of holiness.

"For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God..." (ROM. 3:23). For this reason all of us deserve eternal punishment. But God's love, demonstrated by the execution of his Son, is a completely sufficient and just payment for sin. This payment, however, is not automatically credited to our account. God first requires that "you confess with your mouth Jesus as Lord, and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead. Then you shall be saved" (ROM. 10:9). When this occurs, not only is the debt of our sin "Paid-in-Full," but we also enter into the most gratifying love relationship known to man; a personal relationship with the living God through his Son, Jesus Christ. It is this relationship which is symbolized by the love of a husband and wife for one another.

Prayer for God's blessing on the ceremony.

Who offers the hand of this woman in marriage?

Dad Belon: Her mother and I. (Don't forget your lines! Place Debbie's left hand in Brian's right hand. After that your part is all over. You may join your lovely wife. Just be careful not to trip on Debbie's train!

Pastor Sugden: The Bible says that "a man shall leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave to his wife, and they shall become one flesh" (GEN. 2:24). While Brian and Debbie are each joining the larger family of the other, they are also creating a new family unit, a new Christian home. They now come to publicly avow their lifelong love and commitment to one another and to Jesus Christ.

Pete Carlson: "Jesus is All the World to Me."

Pastor Schrauger: Brian and Debbie, a Christian home is one in which Jesus Christ is supreme, where his Word finds expression in each life, and where his unselfish love is demonstrated daily. Jesus himself tells us to love one another; and through the apostle Paul he explains to us the characteristics of true love. "Love is very patient, very kind. Love knows no jealousy; love makes no parade, gives itself no airs, is never rude, never selfish, never irritated, never resentful; love is never glad when others go wrong, love is gladdened by goodness, always slow to expose, always eager to believe the best, always hopeful, always patient. Love never disappears" (1 COR. 13:4-8a, Moffatt translation). This kind of love grows by an act of our wills, as we draw deeply from the source of all love, the Lord Jesus Christ. Together approach him daily and claim his mature and unselfish love.

Charge to the Groom: Brian, the Word of God declares: "It is not good for a man to be alone; I will make a helper suitable for him. He who finds a wife finds a good thing, and obtains favor from the Lord. Houses and wealth are an inheritance from fathers, but a prudent wife is from the Lord. Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ also loved the church and gave himself up for her. So husbands ought to love their own wives as their own bodies. He who loves his own wife loves himself" (GEN. 2:18; PROVERBS 18:22; 19:14; EPHESIANS 5:25,28).

Brian, do you promise before God and these witnesses to love Debbie and cherish her with the unselfish devotion which Jesus Christ can give you? (Brian) I DO!

Charge to the Bride: Debbie, the Word of God declares: "An excellent wife is the crown of her husband. For her worth is far above jewels. She does him good and not evil all the days of her life. Wives, be subject to your own husbands, as to the Lord. But as the church is subject to Christ, so also the wives ought to be to their own husbands in everything. And let the wife see to it that she respect her husband" (PROVERBS 12:4; 31:10b,12; EPHESIANS 5:22,24,33).

Debbie, do you promise before God and these witnesses to submit lovingly to Brian's leadership as to the Lord, and to give him your highest respect? (Debbie) I DO!

(Brian and Debbie face each other and join hands)

Vow taken by the Groom: I, Brian, take you Debbie, to be my wedded wife, to live together according to the Word of God. I will love you tenderly, lead you in a life of faith--as I submit to the will of God; and I will keep myself only to you. as long as we both shall live.

Vow taken by the Bride: I, Deborah, take you Brian, to be my wedded husband, to live together according to the Word of God. I will love you and respect you, submit to your leadership, and keep myself only to you, as long as we both shall live.

Pete Carlson:

Pastor Schrauger: To the extent that you keep these promises to each other, the joy and blessing of the Lord will be upon your marriage. Do you bring some token of your faithful intention to fulfill your vows?

(Please, Tom, remember which pocket the ring is in!!!)

Brian: Debbie,

this ring is my promise, with the aid of the Spirit,
to love you as Christ loved the church.
To lead you in growth, I will sacrifice self,
and love you as my own body.
To love you as a woman, I will aim to understand, and speak as I would be spoke to.
To support and protect you, I will make no conditions, providing your needs as my own.
To exalt you and prize you, I will honor you always,
regarding you as a full partner.
My Darling, I love you; my commitment is true...
With this ring I pledge.

Debbie: Brian, I love you. Surpassed only by the gift of salvation, you are the most precious gift God will give me in this life. I pledge to you, Brian, by God's power, to continually strive toward the ideal virtues of a wife that God has set forth in his Word. First of all, to honor and respect you as the head of our home. Then, to be a wife you can put your full trust and confidence in; to be a wise investor; to provide and continually be sensitive to your needs and the needs of our family; to love and support you--not only in times of happiness, but also in times of sadness and trial; to continually strive strive to create the kind of environment which will help you to grow, becoming a Godlike man and reaching all your potential; to smile always at God's future for us; and to speak with wisdom and kindness. In all of this, Brian, I will recognize that the highest virtue is to be a woman who fears the Lord.

Pete Carlson:

by Pat Terry

Pastor Schrauger: May these rings you have given to each other be the outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual bond which unites your two hearts in a love that has no end. And may they serve as daily reminders of the promises you have made to each other here today.

By the authority given to me as a minister of the Godpel, I pronounce you to be to each other, husband and wife. (AMEN!!! and YAHOOOOO!!!)
"What therefore God has joined together, let no man separate" (MATT. 19:6)

Prayer of dedication.

Pete Carlson: "The New 23rd"

One Sweet Kiss (Please, only the bride and groom!)

Pastor Schrauger: AND NOW IT IS MY HAPPY PRIVILEGE TO INTRODUCE TO YOU...

MR. AND MRS. BRIAN SCHRAUGER**

Recessional: "A Mighty Fortress is Our God" (Play it Charlie and Temp!!!).

THANK YOU ALL for your contribution to the most wonderful day (well, almost!) of our lives!

And thank you too for your continued prayers on our behalf.

the Wedding Ceremony of Brian Schrauger and Debbie Belon, June 2, 1979

Personal Expression comments that Grant Schrauger gave and I copied the day of the wedding.

Charge to the Groom: (*)

Brian, The Lord says, "A wise son makes a father glad". Prov. 10:1. "The father of the righteous will greatly rejoice, for He who begets a wise son will be glad in Him. Let your father and your mother be glad, and let him rejoice who gave birth to you". Prov. 1:24, 25. You have given us that joy. Your mother and I prayed for you, then gave you back to the Lord, Who in turn has loaned you to us for all these delightful years. We cherish the remembrance of your first responses to our love and remember the multitude of experiences that have led us from our "first baby" to the man you are today. It has been a special joy to see you progress from singing "Jesus Loves Me," and "This Little Light of Mine" into a personal trust in Christ and to sing great hymns of faith as you have become a "man of God". As we have always expected God to work in your life, we still do as we assume this new and privileged responsibility of a husband and to this position, the Lord has graciously brought you.

Charge to the Bride: (+)

Debbie, Surely your Father and Mother could express similar things to you as I have to Brian. But to us you are as much an answer to prayer as Rebekah was to Abraham's servant; he said, "Blessed be the Lord, the God of my master Abraham, who has not forsaken his loving kindness and his truth toward my master; as for me, the Lord has guided me in the way to this house of my master's brother. We are delighted that God has brought you into our family and to become our first daughter-in-law - as well as assuming the privilege of being a wife. The Lord also instructs us . . .

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for thou art with me; thy rod and
thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:
thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow
me all the days of my life:
and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

D. Fergusons Hold 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ferguson of R.R. 1, Kingsville, observed their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, Oct. 1st with an "open house" during the afternoon for relatives and friends at New California Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson (nee Gladys Iler) were married by Rev. W. E. Stafford on Sept. 28, 1922, at the home of the bride's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Norman Iler. The bride was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Delbert Grant (nee Lillian Wigle) and the groom was attended by his brother, Clyde Ferguson. The wedding music was played by Mrs. W. P. Henderson (nee Edith Iler) of Devon, Alberta, sister of the bride. The soloist was Mrs. LeRoy Allen who sang "O Promise Me".

They have two sons, Murray and Glenn of R.R. 1, Essex and a daughter, Mrs. W. B. (Doris) Mountain of Ottawa; also 11 grandchildren and a great-granddaughter, Julia Shuttleworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, accompanied by their family, received the guests in a lovely setting of floral arrangements displayed about for the open house, in the lower auditorium of the church. Mrs. Ferguson chose for the occasion an orchid two-tone crimplene dress, crystal jewellery, black accessories and a cattleya orchid corsage.

the recipients of numerous floral arrangements, gifts, cards and messages of congratulations.

Guests from a distance were present from Edmonton and Devon, Alberta, Chicago, Illinois; Dryden and Royal Oak, Michigan, and Orillia, Ont.

The guest book signed by over 200 guests was in charge of their grandsons, Donald and Gordon Ferguson of Essex.

The tea table was laid with a white sheer lace cloth centred with a tiered anniversary cake topped with the 50th anniversary emblem and golden tapers flanked the centrepiece. Pouring tea during the afternoon were Mrs. Ferguson's sisters, Mrs. William Henderson of Devon, Alta; Mrs. Lester Wigle of Kingsville; also Mrs. Harvey Balkwill, Mrs. Delbert Grant, Mrs. David Payne, Mrs. Forest Wigle, Mrs. Milford Dalton and Mrs. Lester Malott.

Mrs. Philip Balkwill of Essex and Mrs. Fred Thorpe were conveners of the dining room. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Murray Ferguson, Mrs. Glenn Ferguson, Mrs. Gordon Shuttleworth, all of Essex, Mrs. Scott Danforth of Wheatley, Mrs. Bruce Bailey, Mrs. Douglas Bailey of Cottam, Miss Donna Ferguson of Essex and Miss Darla Bailey of Cottam. The members of the New California U.C.W. were kitchen conveners.

Following the afternoon festivities a family dinner was held at the Hilltop Restaurant in Ruthven for 35 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson were

The U.C.W. of Trinity United Church held their annual picnic pot-luck family supper at the church on Thursday evening. Following the business period, during which it was decided they would convene the baseball banquet in September, Mrs. Stanley Thorpe led the group in a short worship service and then Mr. Donald Ferguson showed pictures of their trip to Hawaii.

Miss Carol Ann Thorpe was home from Guelph for the week-end.

Mrs. Alvin Thorpe was a guest at a picnic luncheon at Mrs. Eldon Wigle's home on Sunday.

AN EXPERIENCE WITH GOD . . .

As told to me at the funeral service by Donald J. Ferguson, when his wife, Gladys Iler Ferguson died on Friday, July 7th, 1989, and memorial service held in the Sykes Funeral Home, Division Street, Kingsville, Ontario.

I visited Donald in the Sun Parlour Home in Leamington, Ontario on Sunday, August 6, 1989, and this is what I wrote down from our conversation:

On Sunday, July 2, Gladys had a "spell". Bruce, Ruth and Bob Iler were present at that time. On Monday evening about 5:30 p. m. she had gone to bed. Tuesday, Donald took her down to breakfast in her wheelchair. She began talking quite a bit and ate a real good breakfast, including the breadcrusts, in spite of all her talking. She wanted to talk about her "experience with God". The nurse, Mrs. John West (Isabelle), R.N., of Harrow, heard much of this conversation. Donald came back from his breakfast and she was still talking about it.

She had "seen the bright light . . . she was going to it." But God came on the scene and said, "Not yet, go back". She exclaimed, "I didn't want to but I had to".

Wednesday morning she was real good, got her up, first time since Sunday. Donald wheeled her to breakfast and she ate all her breakfast by herself, which was unusual: juice, porridge, toast (even the crust), jam and a boiled egg and glass of milk.

Gladys wanted to go downstairs to see Neva Wigle (Mrs. Lawrence Wigle), who is also a resident in the Sun Parlour Home. Neva did all the talking. Donald took Gladys to the living room and watched people come and go. He later took her to the dining room and poured a glass of orange juice for her and himself.

Afterwards he brought her back to sit up for the nurse to put her to bed. Gladys never got out of bed again.

Thursday she was pretty good; Friday, Donald called the nurse twice and called the doctor about 4:30 p. m. He said "Donald was worrying unnecessarily. Lungs and heart were all okay," the doctor said.

Donald saw that Gladys was losing ground fast. She died July 7, 1989, 9:45 p. m. in bed. Donald was sitting in a chair beside the bed and asked her questions and she responded with a vocal sound only - and then she entered into the presence of her Lord.

About two years before this incident, Gladys said to Donald, "I have seen the promised land and it's beautiful, it's far prettier than I expected. You can't believe it."

40th Anniversary Celebrated

Murray and Norma (Rogers) Ferguson were married October 8, 1945 in Kingsville at the United Church. They celebrated their anniversary earlier this year when all of their family were able to be with them. Included were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon (Joan) Shuttleworth and family from Calgary, Mr. and Mrs. Carl (Ann) Fama and family from Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ferguson and family of Kingsville, Mrs. Karl (Donna) Staddon from Calgary, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fergus and family, Kingsville, and Gordon Ferguson from Greenville, South Carolina.

The anniversary dinner at Harrow Baptist Church was attended by 64 relatives and friends. They have 9 grandchildren. Murray and Norma have resided at R.R. #1.

BUILT TO LAST

This brick two storey home was built turn of the century and passed through many owners over the years.

Murray and Norma Ferguson moved into this house in 1946, which was owned then by his grandfather, Norman. Mr. Ferguson said the home remained vacant from 1940 to 1946.

Mr. Ferguson said the house was originally built and owned by a man named Thomas. Although he didn't know who occupied the home before his grandfather, he claims it was not passed down through the generations like some homes.

When the Fergusons made it their permanent home, they fixed it up by repairing the brick walls and structure. Mr. Ferguson poured cement around the brick home's foundation. He claims if he hadn't done this the home would not be standing today.

The interior is pleasantly decorated in a modern fashion. The large open rooms are adorned with classic Georgia pine wood along the door frames. The outside walls are built 16 inches in thickness.

The top floor has three bedrooms and a full bathroom and the lower floor has five rooms. They have a den and sun porch for added comfort in addition to the kitchen, dining and living rooms.

FOR DIAMOND JUBILEE — All 11 of their children will help Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rogers of the Third Concession, Gosfield South, celebrate their diamond jubilee Monday. They will be at home at the residence of their son-in-law and daughter.

Ferguson brothers grow & sell own seed corn

By Lisa Haskell

Donald and Larry Ferguson, of RR1 Essex, are experimenting with seed corn varieties to sell privately to the individual farmer.

This was the first year that three of their registered corn seed varieties were introduced on the marketplace.

Seed corn is an advantage to the individual farmer, who likes to try out other corn varieties, that are equal in quality sold by well known seed corn companies. Often seed corn produced by private growers such as the Fergusons can be bought for a cheaper price than company varieties.

Over the past three years, the brothers have tested a number of varieties in seed trial plots in Essex and Kent Counties. To register a corn variety, it must be one different from what is already registered.

Since the prices of seed corn increased over the past few years, Larry felt that their own varieties could be grown for a lesser cost.

He feels there is an opening for small, private growers to put good seed on the market, which is equal to that sold by large seed companies. The advantage is the price. It can be purchased up to 30 per cent less.

Prices from companies are between $85 to $100 per bag of seed. Private seed growers can sell it for about $60 per bag, Larry said.

"Farmers are looking to cut production costs, if you can shave off $18 on the price of seed, it all helps," said Larry.

The brothers planted 65 acres of their own registered corn this year. This corn will be bagged and sold, independently.

After the corn harvest, it is dried on the ear, shelled, stored in bulk and then graded, Donald said. Samples are sent away to Florida to test for the purity in the corn line of a particular seed variety.

Larry and Donald are members of the Canada Seed Growers Association. They are select seed growers.

A select grower goes through a six year trial period for growing soybeans. Donald said during the first three years, the product is grown and sold in the usual manner. After three years, they are on a three year probationary period, and grow varieties in test plots. If the plots are kept up properly, the select grower status is granted.

They receive breeder seed from research stations which is used for their test plots.

For the last two years, they have exported between 16-80 acres of soybeans to the U.S., and bagged 2,000 packages of foundation soybeans which is the highest quality bean sold.

From the various hybrid crosses of corn tested by research stations like the Harrow Research Station, Larry reviews the corn variety test data and picks the best varieties from this data. About a dozen varieties were tried over three years. New varieties are being tried each year to get good quality seed registered.

Larry hopes to have six or eight varieties registered under a family operated business.

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE PLEDGE

I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly to pass my life in purity and to practise my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous, and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drugs. I will do all in my power to maintain and elevate the standard of my profession, and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping, and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling. With loyalty will I endeavour to aid the Physician in his work, and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care.

Shuttleworth-Ferguson Nuptials

Arrays of azalea pink dahlias and white gladioli adorned the sanctuary of Cottam Baptist Church on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 20th, for the exchanging of marriage vows by Lois Joan Ferguson and Robert Gordon Shuttleworth. The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Pastor Arnold Dalimore. During the service of holy matrimony, Jack Lewis, uncle of the bride, accompanied by Robert Iler of Chicago, Illinois, cousin of the bride, sang "O Promise Me", "The Lord's Prayer" and "I Never Knew How Much God Gave to Me".

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray D. Ferguson of R. R. 1 Essex and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Shuttleworth, of Maidstone.

Entering the church escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was gowned in peau de charme. The floor length A-line Empire style gown was fashioned with an oval neckline and lily point sleeves. A self-chapel train extended from a large Chanel bow at the back bodice. Appliqued Alencon lace highlighted the bodice and bordered the chapel train. A flower of crystals and seed pearls secured her three-tiered fingertip scalloped veil of silk illusion and she wore tiny cameo earrings, gift of the bridegroom, and carried a cascade bouquet of white rosebuds, stephanotis and English ivy.

Miss Ann Ferguson, sister of the bride was maid of honor; Miss Sharon Shuttleworth of Maidstone, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Susan Baxter of Windsor were the bridesmaids, and Donna Jean Ferguson, sister of the bride was the Junior bridesmaid. Becky Bailey, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

They were gowned identically in azalea pink peau de charme son, brother of the bride, David Shuttleworth of Maidstone, cousin of the bridegroom, were the ushers and Daniel Shuttleworth brother of the bridegroom, was the Junior usher. Gordon Ferguson, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer.

A reception for approximately 150 guests was held at the Hilltop Restaurant in Ruthven. Mrs. Ferguson received for her daughter's wedding wearing a deep pink crimplene A-line dress topped with a full-length coat of embroidered brocade in shades of pink, eggshell and moss green; a brocade hat and eggshell accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Shuttleworth, mother of the bridegroom, chose a lime green crimplene A-line dress fashioned with three-quarter length sleeves and a high collar, black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Donald Ferguson, R. R. 1 Kingsville, paternal grandmother of the bride, was attired in a peacock sheath topped with a matching lace coat, black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Elmer Sherman of Kingsville, paternal grandmother of the bridegroom, chose a navy knitted jersey dress, navy and white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom's maternal grandfather, Lee Heath, from Regina, Sask. attended.

The wedding of Mr. and Mrs. R. Gordon Shuttleworth was similarly planned to that of the bride's parents' wedding. The organist, Robert Iler, assistant music director of Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, Illinois; the vocalist, Jack Lewis, the vocal selection "I Never Knew How Much God Gave To Me", and the master of ceremony, Dean Ferguson, cousin of the bride, were part of her parents' wedding day in October 1945.

and white gladioli adorned the sanctuary of Cottam Baptist Church on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 20th, for the exchanging of marriage vows by Lois Joan Ferguson and Robert Gordon Shuttleworth. The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Pastor Arnold Dallimore. During the service of holy matrimony, Jack Lewis, uncle of the bride, accompanied by Robert Iler of Chicago, Illinois, cousin of the bride, sang "O Promise Me", "The Lord's Prayer" and "I Never Knew How Much God Gave to Me".

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray D. Ferguson of R. R. 1 Essex and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Shuttleworth, of Maidstone.

Becky Bailey, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

They were gowned identically in azalea pink peau de charme floor-length A-line gowns featuring ruffled detail at the neckline and hemlines. They wore matching rose clusters headpieces enhanced with small scalloped veils and carried nosegay bouquets of white Fujiums and azalea pink carnations highlighted with long white knotted streamers. The flower girl was gowned similarly in white peau de charme and carried a basket of azalea pink carnations and white Fujiums highlighted with long pink knotted streamers.

Paul Dallimore of Cottam was the groomsman; Larry Ferguson, brother of the bridegroom, were the ushers and Daniel Shuttleworth brother of the bridegroom, was the Junior usher. Gordon Ferguson, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer.

The newlyweds left on a motor trip to the Thousand Islands and Ottawa Valley. The bride chose for travelling, a navy two-piece sleeveless dress with a matching full-length coat, red, white and blue accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. R. Gordon Shuttleworth will reside at R. R. 3 Kingsville.

Guests were present from Regina, Sask., Cottam, Essex, Kingsville, Leamington, Windsor, Harrow, Amherstburg, Ottawa, Orangeville, Guelph, Corunna and Chicago, Illinois, Orange, California, and Troy and Dryden, Michigan.

MR. AND MRS. KARL BRUCE STADDON

STADDON-FERGUSON

Yellow mums and white daisies formed the setting for a lovely double ring ceremony at Harrow Baptist Church. Rev. M. Pastorius and Rev. R. Liveley united in marriage, Donna Jean Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Ferguson of Essex and Karl Bruce Staddon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Staddon, of Harrow.

Each guest was given a program by Gordon Ferguson, brother of the bride.

Escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage, the beautiful bride was gowned in a was white rosebuds and baby's breath tinted yellow.

The bride's paternal grandmother wore an off-white knit floor length gown and a corsage of tangerine carnations.

The groom's paternal step-grandmother wore a blue satin floor length gown and a corsage of white carnations tipped pale blue.

The reception for 160 guests was held at the Hilltop Restaurant in Ruthven.

The three tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses and accented with lilies of the valley and green leaves was made by Harrow Baptist Church. Rev. M. Pastorius and Rev. R. Liveley united in marriage, Donna Jean Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Ferguson of Essex and Karl Bruce Staddon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Staddon, of Harrow.

Each guest was given a program by Gordon Ferguson, brother of the bride.

Escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage, the beautiful bride was gowned in a floor-length gown of summer silk sheer organza featuring a high neckline with lace, a sheer chantilly lace yoke, front and back with seed pearls and long tapered lace cuffed sleeves. The circular skirt with a deep flounced hemline fell from an empire waistline. She wore a floral trim tiara headpiece highlighted with seed pearls and sequins which carried her long veil of illusion bordered with the same scallop lace as her gown. She carried a cascade of yellow rosebuds, stephanotis, white fugi mums and baby's breath.

Miss Gail McNaughton, friend of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a mint green gown, topped by a sheer green floral cape. She carried a round bouquet of white daisies and baby's breath accented with white knotted streamers.

The bridesmaids, Nancy Harris, friend of the bride, Janet and Carolyn Staddon, sisters of the groom and Julia Shuttleworth, niece of the bride were all dressed identical to the maid of honor and carried matching nosegays. All the girls wore baby's breath in their hair.

The groom was handsome in a forest green tuxedo with a stephanotis boutonniere.

Larry Ferguson, brother of the bride was best man. The ushers were David Kenney, Richard Sabo, friends of the groom, and Donald Ferguson, brother of the bride. The junior usher was Shane Fama, nephew of the bride.

During the ceremony, Jack Lewis, uncle of the bride sang "I Never Knew How Much God Gave to Me", The Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love" accompanied on the organ by Robt. L. Iler, cousin of the bride from Blue Island Illinois. Larry and Linda Ferguson, brother and sister-in-law of the bride sang "Savior, Like a Shepherd, Lead Them".

The bride's mother was lovely in a pink knit floor length gown accented with a waist length sheer pink floral cape. Her corsage was white rosebuds and baby's breath tinted pink.

The groom's mother was lovely in a yellow knit floor length gown accented with a sheer floor length gown and a of tangerine carnations. The groom's paternal grandmother wore a blue floor length gown and a of white carnations tipped blue.

The reception for 160 was held at the Hilltop Inn in Ruthven.

The three tiered wedding decorated with yellow roses accented with lilies of the valley and green leaves was made by the bride's cousin, Mrs. Kinnaird of Harrow.

The bride's uncle, Stevenson proposed to the bride and a short time followed with Gordon Staddon, brother-in-law of the bride as master of ceremonies. Several songs were sung by Diann and John Ferguson, sisters of the bride and Linda Ferguson.

For travelling, the bride changed to a blue-grey dress with a corsage of red matadors.

After a honeymoon in Banff and Jasper, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Staddon reside in Toronto.

Dr. Ralph Iler Speaks at Symposium

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Iler (Mary Wigle, sister of Mrs. Jesse Ulch), formerly of Kingsville, have returned from a visit to Torremolinos, Spain, to their home in Wilmington, Delaware, U.S.A. Dr. Iler was invited to give the opening paper at an International Symposium on "Health Effects of Silica Particles". Later they visited nearby prehistoric and historic sites.

As a retired chemist from The DuPont Company, Dr. Iler has just finished a new book on "The Chemistry of Silica" which led to his writing a report on the chemistry by which certain forms of silica dust cause the lung disease "silicosis" while other forms do not.

Silica is the main constituent of most sands and rocks and has previously not been thought to be important to living things.

Recent research has shown it to be essential in trace amounts to many forms of life. However, in mining, the dust from drilling through pure crystalline silica, quartz, can be harmful to the lungs unless workers are treated by breathing a small amount of aluminum dust which dissolves and coats the quartz particles.

Silica and life

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Iler (Mary Wigle, sister of Mrs. Jesse Ulch), formerly of Kingsville, have returned from a visit to Torremolinos, Spain, to their home in Wilmington, Delaware, U.S.A. Dr. Iler was invited to give the opening paper at an International Symposium on "Health Effects of Silica Particles". Later they visited nearby prehistoric and historic sites.

As a retired chemist from the DuPont Company, Dr. Iler has just finished a new book on "The Chemistry of Silica" which led to his writing a report on the chemistry by which certain forms of silica dust cause the lung disease "silicosis" while other forms do not.

Silica is the main constituent of most sands and rocks and has previously not been thought to be important to living things. Recent research has shown it to be essential in trace amounts to many forms of life. However, in mining, the dust from drilling through pure crystalline silica, quartz, can be harmful to the lungs unless workers are treated by breathing a small amount of aluminum dust which dissolves and coats the quartz particles.

DR. RALPH Iler was a Canadian by birth; born in Colchester South, attended Kingsville High School and Toronto University. He worked in Canada before being hired by the DuPont Company working first at their Cleveland Branch and for several years, until his retirement, at their head laboratory in Wilmington, Delaware.

After publication of a book on his line of research he was invited recently to lecture in Spain.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Scratch, of Kingsville, will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Scratch, in Mississauga. They will return home after the Christmas holidays.

Dr. R.K. Iler passes in Wilmington

Dr. Ralph K. Iler, age 76, passed away Saturday, November 8, 1985 at Wilmington, Delaware, U.S.A.

Dr. Iler was born in Colchester South, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orland Iler, on July 12, 1909. He attended the Iler Settlement Public School, church and Sunday School, and Kingsville High School. He was graduated from the University of Toronto in 1930 in chemical engineering. He received a PH.D. in the same field in 1933, only the 2nd such degree awarded in all of Canada.

Before becoming a naturalized American citizen in 1943, he was employed by Canadian Industries Ltd., in Montreal, where he tested dynamite and then by U.S. Rubber, in Detroit. In 1937, he joined the Grassett Chemicals Dept. of the DuPont Company in Cleveland, where he was a research supervisor.

In 1950 he moved with his family to Wilmington, Delaware where he later became research manager for the Industrial and Biochemicals Dept. at the Experimental Station. He was later named a Research Fellow in silica chemistry. He retired in 1974.

Dr. Iler's publications included numerous research papers and over 100 U.S. patents. In 1955, Cornell University, where he was Baker Lecturer in Chemistry, published his first book The Colloidal Chemistry of Silica and Silicates, which was translated into many languages. His 2nd book,

In 1950 he moved with his family to Wilmington, Delaware where he later became research manager for the Industrial and Biochemicals Dept. at the Experimental Station. He was later named a Research Fellow in silica chemistry. He retired in 1974.

Ralph K. Iler passes away

ILER - Ralph K. Iler, age 76 years, passed away Saturday, November 9, 1985 at Wilmington, Delaware.

Beloved husband of Mary C. Iler, dear father of Helen M. Houggy, Pittsburgh, Penn., and Ralph K. Iler II of Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Dear brother of Dean C. Iler, Kingsville, Delaware.

Dr. Iler's publications included numerous research papers and over 100 U.S. patents. In 1955, Cornell University, where he was Baker Lecturer in Chemistry, published his first book The Colloidal Chemistry of Silica and Silicates, which was translated into many languages. His 2nd book, The Chemistry of Silica, published in 1979, has been received worldwide as the definitive text on the subject. His personal interests included synthesis of precious opal, archeology, painting and history.

He was a member of the American Chemical Society which honoured him with several awards. In 1977 he was named a member of the Hall of Distinction of the University of Toronto. He consulted and lectured in the U.S.A., Europe, Australia, including a symposium at the Nobel Institute in Sweden.

He is survived by his wife, Mary (Wigle) Iler, also a native of Kingsville; his son, Ralph Jr., of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; and his daughters, Helen Houggy, of Pittsburgh, Penn.; 4 grandchildren, and a brother Dean C. Iler, of Toronto.

The burial service was held in Kingsville on Nov. 12 with interment in Greenhill Cemetery.

A memorial service was held on Nov. 20 at the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, in Wilmington, where Dr. Iler was an Elder.

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for thou art with me, thy rod and
thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:
thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow
me all the days of my life:
and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

The Twenty-Third Psalm
The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures.
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for thou art with me, thy rod and
thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:
thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow
me all the days of my life:
and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

THE KINGSVILLE REPORTER

Hugh Malott
Passes at 76

Hugh (Pappy) Malott of 82 Pearl St. West, Kingsville passed away on Saturday, Nov. 22, at Leamington District Memorial Hospital, following a lengthy illness, at the age of 76 years. Mr. Malott was a lifelong resident of Kingsville and was a veteran of World War I having served in the 63rd Battery. He was a steward at the local Legion and a member of St. George's Lodge No. 41, A.F. & A.M. and the Lt. Col. F. K. Jaspersen (Ont. 188), Royal Canadian Legion.

Surviving are his widow, Iva (nee Harris); three daughters, Betty (Mrs. Lorne Nelson) of Chatham; Ruth (Mrs. Don Richardson) of Harrow; Barbara (Mrs. Ladd Orr) of Dayton, Ohio; one son, Harley, of London; three sisters, Norma (Mrs. Ren Merner) of Kingsville; Ruth (Mrs. Carl Wolfe) of California and Ann (Mrs. Frank Bowden) of Peterborough; also nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The Royal Canadian Legion Branch 188 and St. George's Lodge both held services on Monday evening, Nov. 24th at the funeral home.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the Ferguson-Sykes Funeral Home, Kingsville, with Rev. James Forsythe officiating and interment in Greenhill Cemetery. The Last Post and Reveille were sounded by Bugler Brad Onellette at the cemetery.

The pallbearers were members of the local Legion, Pat Sanford, Jim Brown, John Babcock, Reg Roles, Paul Ruscher and Tom Gibson.

Pictures taken from Ridgetown Centennial Book

THE HAGAMAN / ILER / TOFFLEMIRE / INCHLEY HOUSE
62 ERIE STREET SOUTH

This house was built in or about 1875. In 1878, Worthington Ely Hagaman and his wife, Susan, purchased this property from James Squire. They came from Oakville, Ontario, in 1877, and Mr. Hagaman, with his son-in-law, Bennett Jull, opened a large general store in the premises now owned by George Silcox.

Hagaman & Jull carried on business successfully for over 20 years and sold out in 1899. Mr. Hagaman died in Ridgetown and Mr. and Mrs. Jull retired to Toronto shortly after the turn of the century.

Leonard Iler purchased in 1886. He was a clergyman and also a market gardener. He and his wife raised 7 daughters, and they helped in the garden. One of the Iler girls, Florence, married Joseph Tofflemire, and they acquired the property in 1927 from Mrs. Florence Iler. Alfred and Hilda Inchley became the owners in 1948, and Mrs. Inchley still resides here.

The photo at top right shows the Reverend Mr. Iler in the middle of the picture and he is obviously very proud of his horses. Mrs. Iler is seated in the rocker surrounded by her daughters. The home of the late Thomas Armstrong - now the home of Mrs. Carl Turner- can be seen in the right side of the picture.

DEATH OF COLCHESTER PIONEER

Peter Iler, better known as "Uncle Peter," passed away Tuesday evening in Hotel Dien in the 89th year of his age. He had been receiving treatment there for three months. Deceased was born in the Iler Settlement on the farm now occupied by his youngest brother, Alanson, and was the oldest son of the late John Iler and his wife Anne Wigle. They had an old fashioned family of eleven children, as follows: John, died in Australia; Jacob, died in Kansas; Henry, died in Michigan; Alanson, mentioned above; Peter, subject of this sketch; Mrs. (Rev.) Amos Baldwin, died in Michigan; Mrs. Henry Julian and

PETER ILER.

Mrs. Frank Fox, of the lake front; Mrs. C. H. Bassett and Mrs. Timothy Shay, of Harrow, and Mrs. Robert Fair, of Detroit. Mr. Iler spent his whole life in Colchester South, and was married here to Miss Christina Fox, daughter of the late Henry Fox, of the lake front. She bore him a family of four children, all of whom are living: Wilson, of Kitchener; Mrs. John Clark, Calvin and Gordon, of Colchester South. Mrs. Iler died eleven years ago last May. His remains were brought to the home of his son, Gordon Iler, from where the funeral will be held to-day (Friday), arrangements having been made to have the services conducted at the Baptist church and interment in the Iler cemetery. He was a lifelong member of the Baptist church and for seventy years sang in its choir, possessing a remarkably sweet tenor voice, and loved to sing the old hymns which were used in his boyhood days. After a short illness from old age ail-

An event of more than ordinary interest took place on Sunday and Monday, November 25 and 26, in connection with the church choir, the occasion being the jubilee of Mr. Peter Iler, as a singer. Seldom does an experience of this kind come to a singer. Such an instance, if not entirely unknown, is so rare to make this one almost abnormal.

The person around whom the interest gathers is one of the farmers whose life has been strenuous, days long and labors abundant. The service he has rendered has been voluntary, no thought had he of any financial remuneration. The hours spent in training his choir, in addition to leading it in the chapel, necessitated no small amount of labor and energy, which has been given most cheerfully and efficiently for 50 years.

A jubilee served^{ed} was held on Sunday. The pastor, Rev. J. Atkins, preached a special sermon. At this service letters appreciative and congratulatory were read from former pastors, Revs. J. A. Baldwin, A. C. Baker, D. D. Burtch, and James Smither. Rev. Mr. Sherman was present and assisted the service and spoke highly of Mr. Iler's service during his pastorate. A prominent feature of the service was the rendering of two solos by Mr. Iler in clear, ringing tones, this, at the age of 75. The service throughout was unique, old time hymns and tunes being sung. The congratulations of the large audience were heaped upon the dear brother at the close of the service.

On Monday evening the celebration was continued at the home of Mr. William Wright, when a large company gathered to do the singer the honor his long service merited. After a social time music was furnished by Miss F. Iler, Miss Harris, and Mr. Greaves. Mr. Edgar Iler read an address expressive of the thanks and praise of the friends of the cause, this was accompanied by a well-filled purse; the recipient replying in fitting terms.

Another newspaper clipping information - 1916

For many years, in fact well onto half a century, the service of song at the Colchester Baptist Church was under the direction of one beloved by all who knew him, namely, Peter Iler (Uncle Peter). It will therefore be a source of delightful joy to those who were associated with him in those early days to know that Uncle Peter has, upon the occasion of his 85th birthday (September 10), consented to lead the service of song again. Thus we are sure that a rare treat await those who avail themselves of the privilege of attending the worship at the Colchester Baptist Church next Sunday at 3:00 p. m. and whether there or not all will join in wishing Uncle Peter many happy returns of the day

Dr John S Eilar, Albuquerque, NM, had letters from Leslie and Arthur. They were very much surprised that anyone was able to catch up with them as they stated they were both rovers.

Arthur said he was "like his uncle John, he ran away and went to the waters when he was nine, and had been going ever since!"

Leslie said, "I have been from coast to coast and from Alaska to Central America," while his brother Oscar "was a fixed article and lived in the same town for 50 years"

R. B. Fonville Dies In California ^{8/63}

Master-Sgt. Eldon (R. B.) Fonville, 39, died last Monday at Glendale International Airforce Base, where he was stationed. Services for the deceased were conducted Friday, December 9 at Inglewood, California.

Last year, early in December, accompanied by his wife and family, he visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Fonville, who live at Oxley, where he was born.

Mr. Fonville enlisted in the Essex Scottish on August 5, 1940, and on the same date in 1942 joined the American Army and served in the tank division overseas. He had the honour of personally driving General Paton while on manoeuvres in Germany. His pet dog, 'Muxy,' who always accompanied him in the field of battle is with his parents at Oxley.

Returning from the Second World War, he re-enlisted and spent three years in the Japan-Korea area. Later he went to France and Germany and returned to visit his parents last year in December before going to Vandenburg, California.

195513
He is survived by his widow, Magdalene; one son, Ambrose; one daughter, Vera Maria; all at Glendale International Airforce base; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Fonville, Oxley; one brother, Veale at Torrance, California, who is stationed with the Highway Patrol; one sister, Joyce (Mrs. James Gallagher), Los Alamos, New Mexico and a foster brother, Lawrence Lounsbury, Amherstburg.

The bride's father escorted her to the altar along the aisle lighted by candles. Her gown was made of ribbed nylon sheer over white satin, with lace covered Empire bodice having V neckline and angel sleeves. The Princess skirt trimmed with lace appliques, extended into a deep flounce and fell into a Chapel train. A chapel veil was held in place with a Dutch cap decorated with lace and pearls. She wore her maternal grandmother's gold love bird and pearl necklace and carried a bouquet of white glamelias, pink rosebuds and baby's breath.

Mary Hutchins was maid of honor for her sister. Her mint green frock was fashioned with an Empire bodice and sheath skirt, accented by a short georgette jacket, in complimentary single pastel shades, with angel sleeves. The jacket was tied in front. The bridesmaids Susan Hutchins, another sister and Maureen Sellars Wickham wore similar frocks in a shade of ice blue. All the bride's attendants carried white lace baskets of pastel blue, green and white daisy mums and baby's breath. The bride's mother designed and made the wedding gown and the attendants frocks.

Paul Nicholson of Port Elgin was best man for his brother. Two other brothers Martin Gateman and James Gateman were ushers.

The reception was held on the lawn at the bride's home. A hand blown glass heart and wedding bells decorated the top of the three tiered wedding cake.

A white orchid accented Mrs.

Hutchins and McCloskey exchange vows

A beautiful spring wedding was held at St. Alban's Church, Malden, on April 20, 1985. Rev. James Broadfoot officiated at the wedding of Susan Rose Hutchins, youngest daughter of Edwin and Alta Hutchins of Malden Twp. to Robert Patrick McCloskey, eldest son of Robert and Margaret McCloskey of Amherstburg. Mrs. Wm. Borland presided at the organ, and Mrs. Marvin Grant was soloist. The scripture readings were given by Mrs. Dave Lowe and Miss Chris Anne Stumpf. Fresh spring flowers were placed in lovely brass vases on the altar. Large standing candelabras stood on each side of the altar decorated with a big yellow bow.

The bride was escorted by her father. She was dressed in a full lace over taffeta gown. Under the high neckline was worn a large cameo belonging to her maternal grandmother. The top of the dress had a V shaped lace ruffle in front and back that gave an off-the-shoulder effect. The full lace sleeves gave the illusion of mutton leg styling. A satin ribbon was tied in a bow off to the side at the waist. The bottom of the dress was full with a flounce at the hem and cathedral train accented with several rows of lace. Her headpiece was in spousabella styling; made of satin leaves, pearls, beads and ostrich plumes attached to a lace edged double chapel veil.

The bride and her mother designed and made all the bouquets, corsages and boutonnières of spring silk flowers. The bride's bouquet contained pink tulips, yellow daffodils, mauve wisteria, crocus, anemones, forsythia, maidens hair fern, yellow iris, lily of the valley as well as flowering almond sprigs and baby's breath tied with a white satin ribbon and streamers.

The maid of honour, Miss Norma Bossi of Scarborough, wore a formal grecian style gown of guiana and lace in pastel pink (friend of the bride). The two bridesmaids were the bride's sisters, Ruth Nicholson of Waterdown, who wore an identical dress in pastel yellow and Mary Hutchins of Toronto in a delicate shade of green. Each girl wore a comb covered with satin flowers, beads was a gift of the bride.

His attendants were best man, Joe McCloskey of Paisley, brother of the groom. The ushers were Gerard Stroeder of Kitchener and Dave Shortt of Saranac, friends of the groom. They were dressed in medium grey tuxedos and tails with bow ties and cummerbunds to match the bridesmaids' colours. They also wore white silk trillium boutonnières.

The bride's mother wore a natural coloured two piece Irish linen suit by Pallas of Dublin. It was complemented with a pink georgette and lace blouse, matching accessories and a fuchsia corsage. The father of the bride wore a soft grey herringbone suit with a red trillium boutonniere.

The groom's mother was in a lovely gown of delicate pink georgette with a gracefully draped bodice set off by two satin rose appliques, and a corsage of stylized wild roses. The father of the groom wore a smart darker grey suit also with a red trillium boutonniere. The groom's paternal grandparents were also in attendance.

A reception for 180 guests was held at the Holiday Inn, Windsor. The bride's brother-in-laws, David Nicholson was master of ceremonies, and Scott Wilkins was toastmaster to the bride. Other assistants were Mrs. Barbara Brown who

HEATON - THUSS
WEDDING

The Windsor University Chapel was the setting for the lovely spring wedding of Susan Marie Heaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heaton of Harrow to Martin Gerard Thuss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Thuss of Strathroy, on May 28. Rev. B. Seguin officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white jersey, her elbow length veil was caught in a headpiece of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and baby's breath.

Mrs. Patti Manberry, sister of the bride was matron of honour, Constance Mak was bridesmaid. Both were dot and carried bouquets of white daisies and blue iris.

Gerry Thuss, brother of the groom was best man, and Jim Heaton, brother of the bride was usher.

The reception was held at the Hill Top, Ruthven.

Following a trip east, the newlyweds will reside in Chatham.

Susan and Martin are both recent graduates of the Faculty of Education, Windsor.

Brian Heaton top hitter

A 26 year old native of Harrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Heaton, is setting records in the field of baseball. The following comments appeared in a recent news release.

"Sunday 1st baseman Brian Heaton demonstrated exactly why he deserves to be selected to the 1976 Intercounty All-Star squad, as he sparked the Maple Leafs to a 13-1 win over the defending Intercounty champion London Majors.

"Heaton, who is now well into his fourth campaign with Toronto, scored three runs against London as he connected for three hits including a pair of doubles. All this after he had fouled out his first time at bat. His other time at the plate resulted in a walk.

"Bud" Heaton to contest

Keith "Bud" Heaton, age 55, a former native of Harrow, told the "News" on Tuesday that he will seek the Liberal nomination for the next provincial election in the riding of Essex South.

Mr. Heaton, a resident of Leamington, has served in municipal office for the past 18 years. He was a member of the Leamington town council for 10 years and for the past 8 years filled the office as reeve.

Mr. Heaton is married with a family of four.

"In addition to scoring runs, he also batted-in 3 baserunners, 2 of them in the 4th inning. Heaton's ability with the bat Sunday was a brief example of why he is ranked 7th in hitting in the Intercounty league this season. In recent stats issued by the league, he had a .364 batting average for 19 games. He also led the club at that point with 18 RBIs.

"Last year, he had a .308 batting average in 28 games and was second on the club in that department. He also had a fielding mark of .967. Heaton presently has a percentage in excess of .990.

He is employed as an Industrial Designer by Cooper Industries in Mississauga.

THE HARROW NEWS

MR. AND MRS. BRIAN HEATON

A communion nuptial mass at St. John de Brebeuf Roman Catholic Church, Kingsville, on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 15th was solemnized in a candlelight and stephanotis setting for the exchanging of marriage vows by Barbara Melinz and Brian Hubert Heaton. The sacrament of holy matrimony was performed by Father M. J. Quenneville and during the impressive double ring ceremony Miss Margaret Ann Kapasi played as organ solos "Praise the Lord the King of Heaven", "The Lord's Prayer" and "O God of Loveliness".

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kari Melinz of R.R. 3, Kingsville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Heaton of R.R. 1, Harrow.

Escorted to the sanctuary by her father, the bride was gowned in white norganza. The floor-length Empire-style portrait gown was fashioned with a basque bodice featuring a Victorian neckline and short puffed sleeves. Daisy patterned Guipure lace highlighted the neckline and the sleeves, and also accented the Empire waistline. The A-line skirt enhanced with daisy patterned Guipure lace extended forming an aisle-wide full-flowing qathedral train bordered with daisy patterned Guipure lace. A norganza pillbox secured her triptie-tiered shoulder-length bouffant veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of Shasta daisies and baby's breath.

Miss Sharon Stahi was the maid of honor and Miss Annie Melinz, sister of the bride, Mrs. Douglas Ringrose and Miss Ann Heaton of Harrow, sister of the bridegroom, were the bridesmaids. Shelley Brown of Harrow, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. The attendants were gowned identically in summer gold chiffon floor-length Empire-style gowns fashioned with scoop necklines, short puffed sleeves and flowing skirts. The Empire waistlines were accented with white Swiss lace and summer gold ribbon. They wore matching leaves and floral headpieces enhanced with tulle; matching accessories, and carried garden baskets of Shasta daisies, yellow tipped carnations and fern. The flower girl was gowned similarly in white chiffon and carried a miniature basket of Shasta daisies, yellow tipped carnations and fern.

Kirk Mertens was the groomsmen and Douglas Ringrose, Larry Heaton of Oakville, cousin of the bridegroom, and Roger Snider of Oldcastle, cousin of the bridegroom, were the ushers. David Brown of Harrow, nephew of the bridegroom was the ringbearer.

An evening reception for approximately 350 guests followed at the Ellenberger Community Hall in Harrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Heaton departed on a motor trip to Kentucky and upon their return will reside in Toronto.

The bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gerhardt Bijl of Belgium; uncle, John Melinz of Austria, and great-uncle, Nick Schuiz of Germany were present on this occasion; also guests from Toronto, Clarkson, Hamilton, London, Windsor, Amherstburg, Leamington, Harrow, Kingsville and part of Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The farm service camp re-opened at the fair grounds with 36 boys, under the directorship of YMCA, director Richard Welsh. The boys, who are working mainly on potatoes at present, offer a fine service to the farmers of the district.

Gordon G. Fox, 79, farmer of Gosfield South, was rushed by ambulance to Hopewell hospital, Leamington on Saturday night, after he had fallen from a load of hay.

More than 700 Chinese ring neck pheasants were liberated throughout Essex County by the Essex County Sportsman's Association and the Riverside Sportsman's club.

Sgt. and Mrs. Clifford Robinson of Chatham, spent the weekend with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Robinson.

F. Mathews has purchased the former Fram's Restaurant, at Colchester on the lake.

Gladys Agla, WRCNS, returned home this week after serving overseas for a number of months.

Sweep clear fox estate

ESSEX—The Fox Estate probably hasn't seen so much activity since it served as a trading post in the 1830's. The Estate, located on Highway 18A at Fox Creek, was purchased by the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources two years ago. Transfer of ownership to the Essex Region Conservation Authority is now pending. Earlier this summer project S.W.E.E.P. (Students Working in an Environmental Enhancement Program) spent two weeks cleaning up the grounds, beach area, the house and the eight accompanying buildings. S.W.E.E.P. will also be responsible for maintaining the grounds for the remainder of the summer. On July 9, seven junior conservationists along with a supervisor moved into the estate. They will be in the area for six weeks, studying various natural areas within the Authority. The Authority has not yet formulated any long range plan for the use of the Fox Estate.

CARD OF THANKS

"THANKS TO ALL"

"As we look down the road,
Where the "sixty-five years have fled,

And look at the little stretch
ahead;

It isn't the gold glory we have in this life,

But the love of our family and friends."

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
For thou art with me; thy rod and
thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:
Thou anointest my head with oil;
My cup runneth over
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow
me all the days of my life:
I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

Fred Black dies at 71

Fred McMurray Black, a former art director and engraving supervisor of the Windsor Star, died in Kingsville on Saturday of a heart attack. He was 71.

Mr. Black retired to his hometown of Kingsville in 1970 after a 41 year career with The Star. He was considered by his colleagues as one of the foremost experts in newspaper reproduction techniques, particularly in the use of color.

The funeral service was held in Kingsville on Tuesday with Rev. W. E. Aldworth officiating. Burial was made in Greenhill Cemetery.

ILER.—Died at her residence in Colchester, County of Essex, on the morning of the 26th of March, 1873, after a most painful and protracted illness, which she bore with marked submission and great patience, CATHERINE ILER, the beloved wife of Samuel Iler, of Colchester, and mother-in-law of the Rev. Dr. Davidson, of Aylmer, in the 59th year of her age; deeply regretted in death, as she was highly prized in life, by a large circle of relatives and friends.

Our departed sister was born in Long Point, and at an early age removed with her parents to the Township of Raleigh, in the County of Kent. When she grew up to womanhood she removed to the Township of Gosfield, County of Essex, where she engaged in the work of teaching a common school. While residing in Gosfield it pleased God to open the eyes of her understanding to see her lost state as a sinner, and to behold the Lamb of God as her Saviour. In the old Gosfield church book there is this brief entry: "August 1st, 1830; at the Meeting House Elder Charles Stewart baptized Catharine Slater." For over forty-two years our dear sister, now departed from earth, filled her place as a worthy and well-beloved member of the Baptist body, and has descended to her grave fully ripe, as a shock of corn is gathered in its season. At the time of her conversion she was but a girl of 16 years of age, and about four years afterward she gave her hand in marriage to Mr. Samuel Iler, with whom she lived a most happy and useful life: a life beautiful because of the humble piety that adorned it. To know her was to esteem and love her, for in every relation of life, as a wife, a mother, a neighbor, a member of the church, and as a friend, she was true and faithful. Her children rose up to call her blessed, while the heart of her husband safely trusted in her; so loving, so thoughtful of the wants of those dear to her, and ever so ready to do what she could to help bear the burdens and lighten the sorrows of others. Her piety was not so remarkable because of its showiness as of its depth. She never made any ostentatious display of her love to God and his cause, yet the whole tenor of her life showed clearly and unmistakably that the love of God dwelt in her. For many years she has been a very mother in Israel in the 2nd Baptist Church of Colchester, and when she was laid aside by her last sickness, the place she was compelled to vacate was one which no one else seemed ready to fill. Of her children, eight in number who now survive her, it was her great happiness to see six converted and baptized into Christ, four daughters and two sons. Her death was one of great peace and triumph in Christ. She had a desire to depart and be with Jesus, and when the messenger came she was ready. On the day of her burial an excellent and appropriate sermon was preached before the assembly present by the Rev. G. A. Daugharty, A.M., of Leamington, N.B., "He looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God," which the mortal remains of "Aunt Katie" as she was familiarly called when laid down in the grave in the Colchester Baptist burying-ground, there to rest until the morning of the resurrection.

ILER.—Died, at his residence, in the town of Kingsville, Ont., Samuel Iler, aged eighty-three years and nine months.

Our brother was brought to a knowledge of the truth in early life, and baptized into the fellowship of the Second Gosfield Regular Baptist Church by Elder Charles Stewart. For more than sixty years he was a valuable help to the cause of God in this part of the great Gospel field. Generous almost to a fault, his eyes and hands were ever open to the wants of all about him. For thirty-nine years he lived in happy wedlock with Catherine Slater, who had given her heart to Christ before she gave her heart and hand to him. Her death, which occurred March 26th, 1873, was a severe blow to him. For years, crushed and overwhelmed by it, he could hardly be induced to look up to the hills, from whence alone strength and consolation can come to God's bereaved children. Though we often found him weeping and desponding, he was always warm in heart, and glad to help in every good work. The father of eight children, it was a comfort to him that they occupied important and honorable positions in the church of Christ. After a brief illness, which was at times severe, in full possession of his mental powers, and in quiet trust, he fell asleep in Christ. Loved by all who knew him, and lamented by a large circle of friends and relatives, he was tenderly borne by the hands of six of his grandsons to his resting-place in the cemetery of the Second Gosfield Church and laid by the side of the wife with whom he had lovingly lived, but from whom death had separated him so long. The occasion was improved by the writer from the words of Jesus. 'To-day shalt thou be with me in paradise.'

SAMUEL ILER, son of JACOB III and ELIZABETH (Snider) ILER (1813-1897). This picture was given to Bob Iler by Samuel N. Scra tch, grandson of Samuel Iler, August, 1957, when Bob Iler met Samuel in Leamington, Ontario. He and his wife had recently celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary. I showed Sam a letter his Mother had written before she was married to an uncle in Hagerstown, IND, back in the 1800's. HANNAH ILER was her name. Jesse Elar of New Castle, IND, loaned me this letter to take to Canada and show my Grandmother Iler. Above tin-type picture is at least 87 years old in 1970. Samuel Iler was almost 84 years of age. My Grandmother Iler thought all old people were deaf and she spoke quite loudly to this gentleman one day and he spoke very softly and kindly to her afterwards with a "chuckle" in his voice.

Tunes for Ruthven Cyclist

A BOON to six-day bicycle riders, this bicycle is equipped with a custom-built radio set. Harley Iler, 16, of Ruthven, rigged out the receiving set from odd pieces in his spare time. Batteries are stored in the box below the set and a fishing rod serves as an aerial. Iler, who startled pedestrians of Kingsville streets when he made a "trial run," reported that he got the idea from a magazine. (By Staff Photographer.)

I stopped by his office and found out he was not in. His secretary called his home and he was just getting ready to leave, riding his bike. I told his secretary not to say who I was other than a cousin. He got there about 10:00 a.m. I have not seen him since his high school days when he used to come to his Uncle Earl Iler's in Harrow....We had a half hour visit. He looked just like his dad.

I walked from Bloor and Young streets to his office. His name was at the top on the glass door leading up to the second floor.

That evening I stayed with his parents, Harley and Lorna Iler in Guelph, Ontario, on my way back to Harrow, Ontario.

Graduate

Earl and Betty Iler are proud to announce the graduation with honours of their son Greg, from the University of Guelph on June 7, 1985. He received a Bachelor of Science (Agriculture) majoring in Agricultural Mechanization and a minor in Agribusiness. Greg will continue working with his father on the family farm.

Colchester South

Elizabeth Doreen Woodall, bride-elect of Saturday, has asked her twin sister, Norma, to be her maid of honor and her cousin, Margaret Woodall, to be bridesmaid. Miss Woodall, of Windsor, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woodall of Windsor, will marry Earl Scott Iler, son of Mrs. E. Scott Iler of Harrow, and the late Mr. Iler. Madelyn Iler, the bridegroom-elect's niece, from Guelph, will be flower girl. Harvey Iler of Guelph will be his brother's best man, and Brian Iler, his nephew, also of Guelph, will be groomsmen. Earl has also asked Arthur Arner of Kingsville, his cousin, Bruce Arner of Ruthven, and Elizabeth's cousin, Gordon Woodall of Riverside, to be ushers. Mrs. Glen Wright honored Betty at a miscellaneous shower at her home on McKay Ave. Betty Brignall and Marion Seaton held a surprise shower in Betty's honor at the Brignall home, Windsor, at which many past and present members of the Venture Club were guests. Miss Woodall is a past president of the club. The bride-elect's sister, Norma, held the trousseau tea and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Woodall entertained at a dinner at their home. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woodall will entertain the bridal party at a supper at their home on Riverside Dr., Riverside, prior to the rehearsal.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark McLean have moved into an apartment in Mrs. Forest Sellars' home. Their son Max McLean and family are living in their farm home, having moved from the late John Brush Sr. house.

MR. & MRS. GREG ILER

In a lovely candlelite ceremony in Harrow United Church, on Saturday, July 5, Rev. John Brown united in marriage Beth Kinnauld and Greg Iler. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kinnauld, and the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Iler, all of Harrow.

The maid of honour was Jana Papke, of Harrow, and best man, David Trivers, of Hagersville Ont.

Following their honeymoon in Quebec City, the newlyweds are residing on Dolson Rd., Harrow.

Ann Hope and Bob Lawson.

Open and Novice Games every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. New players welcome. This week we welcomed Bev Eccles, Mary Price and Ann Hope.

On Wednesday, Sept. 3, the game will be played in the downstairs banquet room at the Lakeshore Hotel Entrance off the west parking lot.

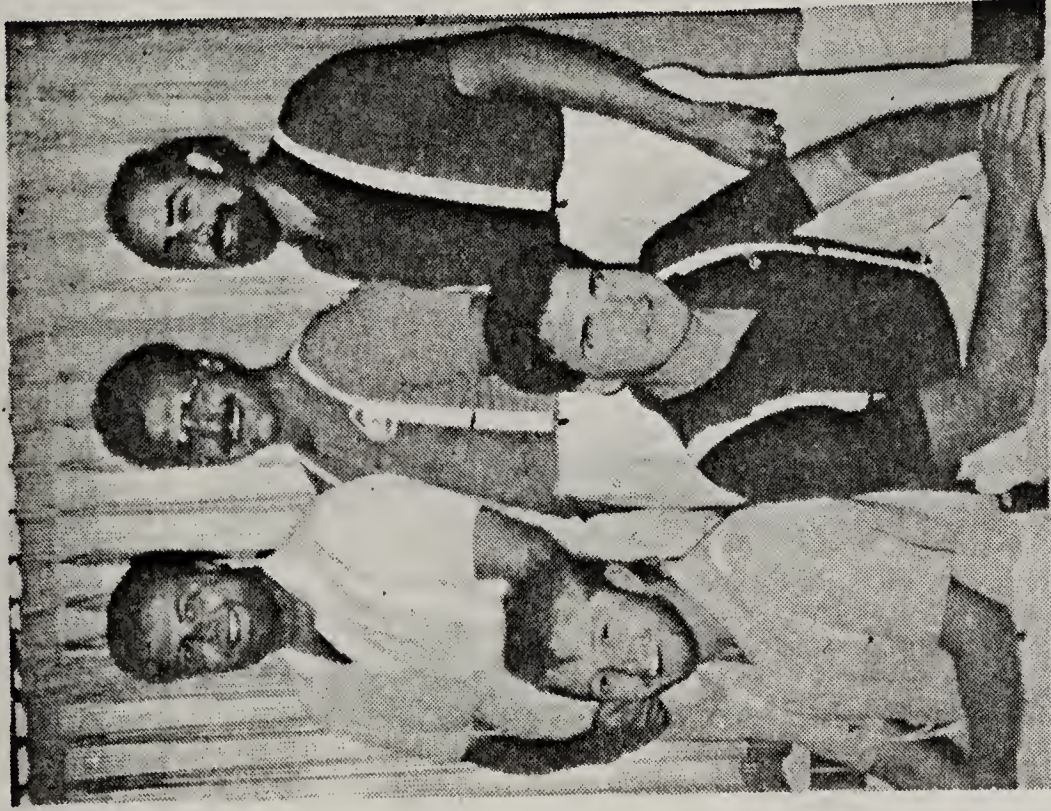

“Gimmick” to appear for M.D.

Harrow's own acappella group, “Gimmick” will take part in the Annual Happy Acres Festival for Muscular Dystrophy at Colasanti's in Leamington, on Sunday, September 4, from 8:00 to 9:00 p.m.

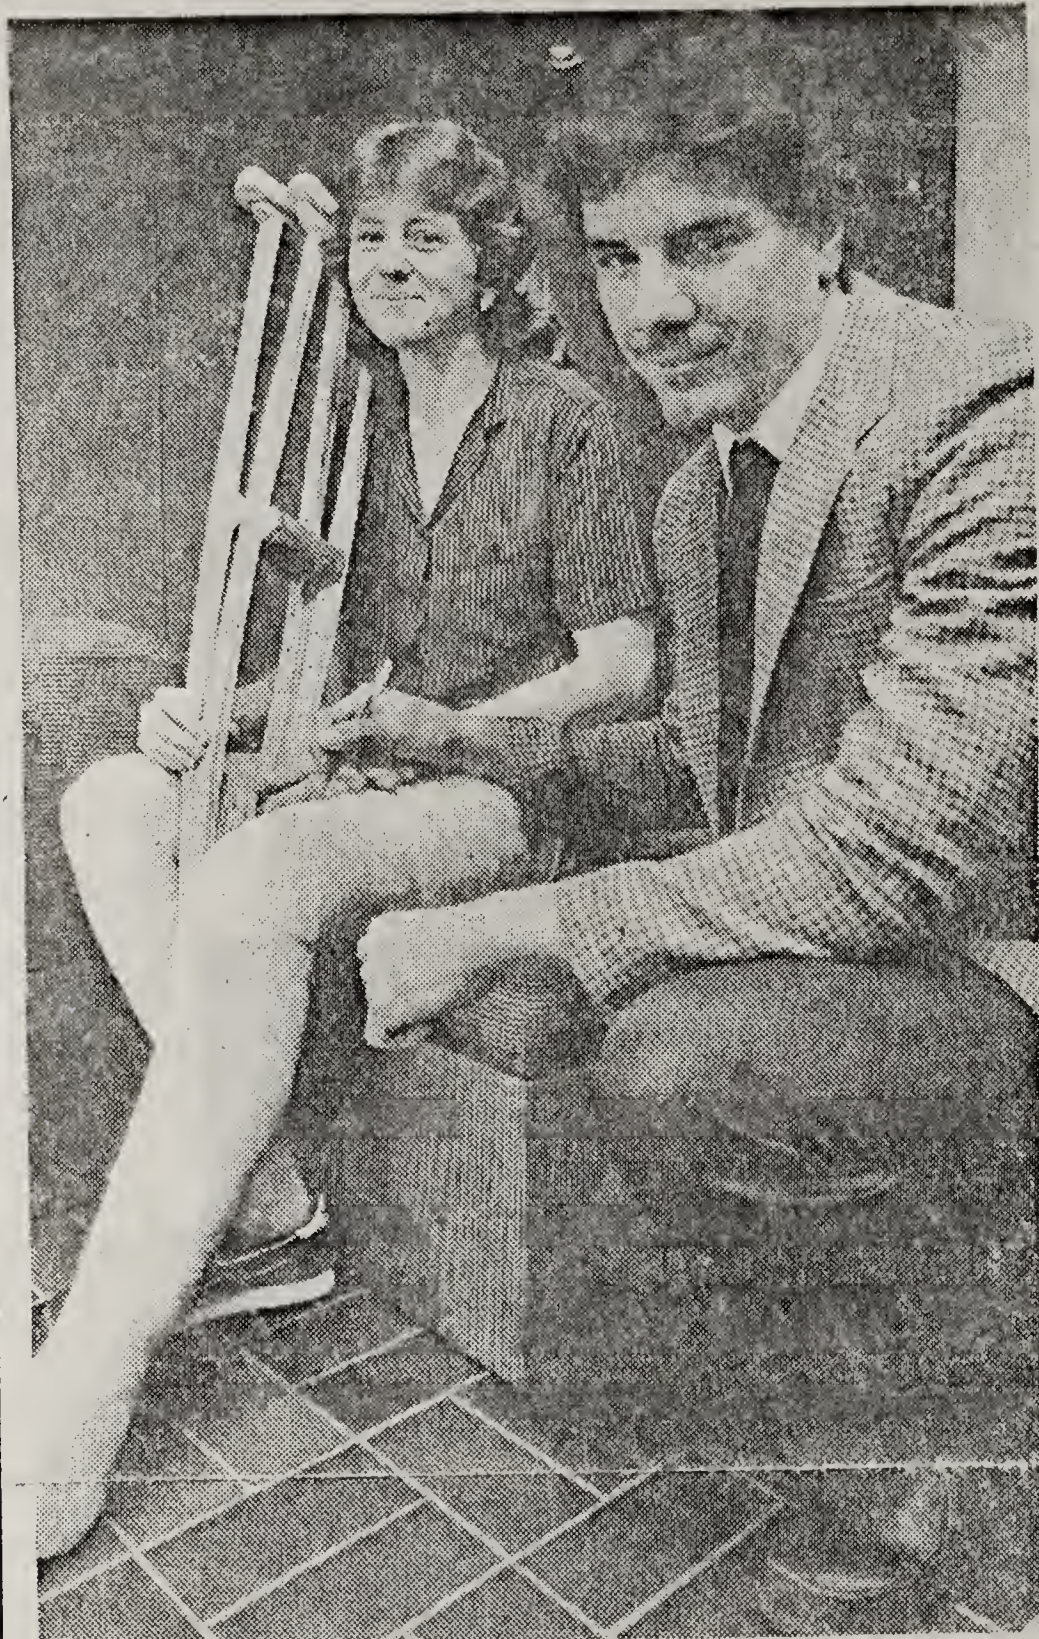

In 1980, a group of five Harrow High School students with a common appreciation for singing got together to form a Barbershop Quartet plus one. Under the direction of music teacher Robert Kinneer, the group concentrated on the blend of voices needed for traditional barbershop music.

Following high school, the group members found themselves separated as they went to distant universities and followed individual career aspirations. In 1984 with all the members returning to the Harrow area, they reunited changing their style to 50's and 60's Doo-Wop type music. With a unique five-part harmony sound.

ESSEX — The award is for the best male and female student athletes.

But excellence off the field also counts in the selection of Essex County's top athletes — Tony Geremia of Tecumseh and Susan Iler of Harrow.

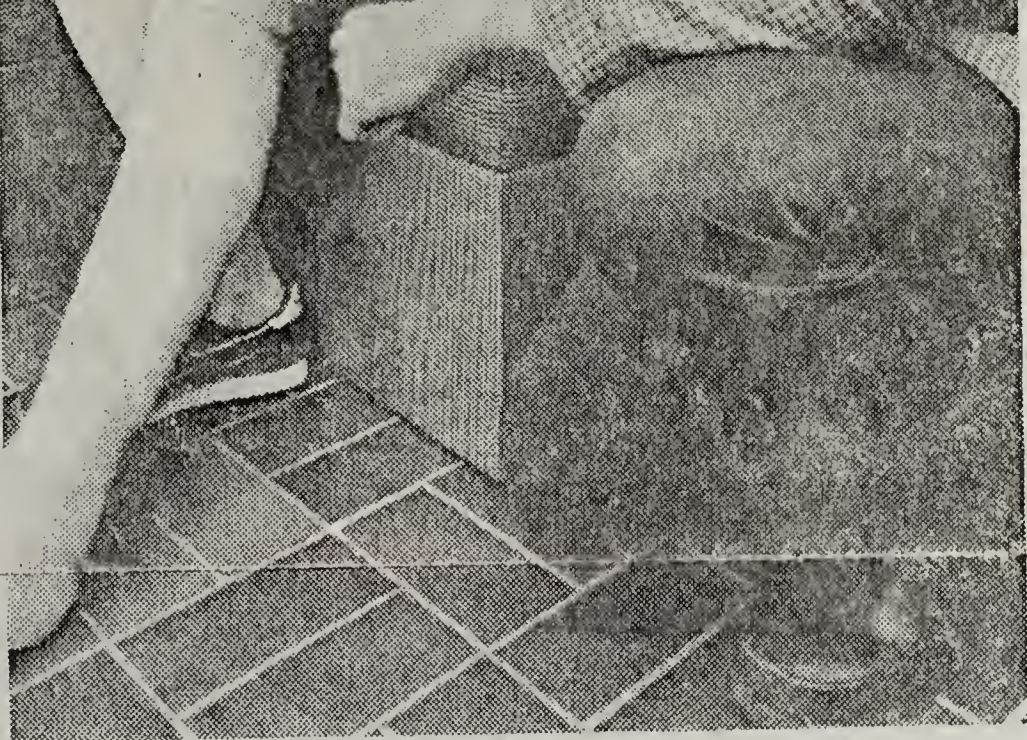

And Geremia and Iler, both 19, know how to hit the books — he maintained a B-plus average during a heavy year of competition and she's been an honors student recent county track meet.

BOTH WILL SEEK academic careers beyond Grade 13. Geremia will study to be a lawyer enrolled in a law program at St. Clair College, followed by enrolment at University of Windsor. Iler will take agriculture, possibly to be followed by a scientist's course, depending on how things go at University of Guelph.

Geremia, a student at St. Anne's High School, also instructed at a basketball camp for youngsters.

ESSEX — The award is for the best male and female student athletes.

And Geremia and Iler, both 19, know how to hit the books — he maintained a B-plus average during a heavy year of competition and she's been an honors student throughout high school.

Iler captained both senior basketball and volleyball teams, leading both to Southwestern Ontario finals. The volleyball team went on to compete in the all-Ontario tournament.

She's also proven herself an outstanding track and field athlete in long jump, discus and 100-metre run.

Geremia was a member of the all-county cross-country team and all-star basketball team and was named most valuable player at the recent county track meet.

BOTH WILL SEEK academic careers beyond Grade 13. Geremia will study to be a lawyer enrolled in a law program at St. Clair College, followed by enrolment at University of Windsor. Iler will take agriculture, possibly to be followed by a scientist's course, depending on how things go at University of Guelph.

Geremia, a student at St. Anne's High School, also instructed at a basketball camp for youngsters.

Iler, of Harrow District Secondary School, said the award recognizes her coaches' contributions and the help they've given her.

The award honors students who can excel in both athletics and academics and who don't sit back but contribute, said Louis Sovran, representing the association of Essex County secondary school coaches.

EACH OF THE nine secondary and two private Christian schools in the association is allowed one nomination and one vote. However, only three male and three female students were nominated.

Hannah Iler - I saw a letter she had written to Samuel Eilar in Indiana back in the 1880's. Jesse H. Eilar let me take it to show my Grandmother Iler (Winnie, Mrs. Edgar Iler). I also showed it to Hannah's son, Samuel N. Scratch, living in Leamington, Ontario, in 1957. Sam and his wife had just celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary the year I met them. His wife, Carrie, passed away in 1960 and he went into the Sun Parlour home and died in 1968.

Photographer of the Year

For the first time, a Canadian, Bob Gallagher, has won the Photographer of the Year Award of the Detroit Professional Photographers Association (DPPA).

Bob Gallagher, formerly of Kingsville, displays his awards that he recently received.

The DPPA, in its 41st year, is the second largest professional photography association in Michigan, its 350 members making it larger than many state-wide associations.

The 1982 Photographer of the Year Award was presented to Mr. Gallagher June 16 at the annual awards dinner held at the Club Venetian in Madison Heights, Michigan. Mr. Gallagher, owner of Bob Gallagher Photography in Windsor, Ontario, Canada has now won the Photographer of the Year awards for both the Detroit and Southwestern Ontario Associations. To receive either of these prestigious honours, a photographer must enter a selection of prints in a variety of categories, thereby demonstrating excellence in a number of different photographic areas. Mr. Gallagher showed his work in the commercial, pictorial, portrait and unclassified categories, reflecting the specialties of his business in the commercial, aerial and artistic applications of photography.

Photography Studio Wins Major Awards

Both Dan Reaume and Bob Gallagher of Bob Gallagher Photography, Windsor, have won major awards for outstanding photography in 1985.

The South Western Ontario Branch of the Professional Photographers of Ontario recently presented Dan Reaume with their annual Award of Excellence for 1985 and their Award of Merit to Bob Gallagher. This marks the second year in a row that the studio has won both honours.

The awards are based on cumulative scores earned for excellence in photographic work produced over the year. Both men submitted commercial, portrait and pictorial photographs to win the awards.

In addition Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Reaume were elected to serve on the Branch executive for 1986.

Richard L. E. R.

father of Carey W. Iler
& Lydia Pahrkee

We lived with our family (before I was born!) until his death, somewhere around 1920 - I remember going out to the family Plot at the Cemetery in Whittier (Pres.'s home town, & mama's college home) as a little girl, on Memorial Day with Mama & Papa to clean the gravesites - Later that whole cemetery was covered over for a big apartment complex - filled in several yards deep - over it -

1952 CAREY W. ILER

Carey W. Iler of 402 N. Alexander avenue, Claremont, passed away at the family home at 5 o'clock this morning after a short period of failing health.

Mr. Iler was born January 5, 1868, in Ontario, Canada. He came to the United States from Ontario in 1892 and has lived in Southern California for the last 60 years. He resided in Pomona for six years, until six months ago when he moved to Claremont. He was a member of Claremont Gospel chapel.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Hattie Mae Iler, he is survived by five sons, N. C. Iler of Pasadena, A. J. Iler of Hermosa Beach, John Iler of Pico, Joe Iler of Olympia, Wash., and William B. Iler of Long Beach; and six daughters, Mrs. Lois Rigg of Manhattan Beach, Mrs. R. B. Young of Atascadero, Mrs. R. M. Hill of Pomona, Mrs. John Matthies of Los Gatos, Mrs. E. R. Little Jr. of Los Angeles, and Mrs. R. W. Baker of San Ardo, Calif. There also are 26 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in Todd Memorial North chapel at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Evangelist Tom Olson will officiate. Interment will be made in Pomona cemetery.

To A Disease Germ

You! Ugly wee disease germ!
Knocked at my door one day.
My Host — my Savior — saw you call
And would not let you stay!
Persistently, you knocked again
And entrance sought to gain;
Until the Lord permitted it
Your calling was in vain.
Then came a time my Savior found
Some work for you to do!
He lat the door swing just a crack —
Your ugly form crept through!
Your painful samples you unpacked,
Each wrapped with grief and gloom,
Discouragement hung over me,
No sun could reach my room!
My tidy house was chaos now,
My host must be away;
Distrust and doubts sneered at my soul
As pain — daap pain — held sway.
"Oh! why do You permit this, Lord?"
My spirit seemed to sigh;
No understanding could I sense —
No answer to my cry!
Then o'er my spirit came a hush!
(My Host was with me now)
A soothing Hand of tender love
Was placed upon my brow!
"This thing is sent from Me," He said,
"Oh, don't be crushed with fears!"
Then, in my heart I saw Him!
His face was wet with tears.
"You love me, Lord. I see it —
This suffering — can it be
This pain and woe afflicting me
Woe borne as well by Thee?"
Then all this must be needed
Thase pains — of worth untold —
Thase waights are wings to fly with Thee
And glimpse the street of gold!
Forgive me, Lord, for sighing,
About this mortal clay —
Help me to soer the heeuanlies
And trust Thee, come what may!

J 761 * [1] CAREY WILLIAM ILER (1868-1952)

Wife: Hattie Mae Newell (1883-1964)

J 762 [2] Lydia (1870-1912) (Daughter was Katie Fahnke, who had a daughter, Gracie Goodsell, who had a son, Henry Goodsell, who was in same class in South Pasadena Jr. High & Senior High as Ruth Iler, #11 of Carey & Hattie Iler).

J 761 CAREY WILLIAM ILER: Born Jan. 5, 1868, in Iler Settlement, Gosfield South, Essex County, Ontario, Canada, on the north shores of Lake Erie. Carey was first married to Nellie Maybee, in the early 1890s, about the same time he took his first pastorate as a Baptist minister, in Blenheim, Ontario, Canada. Nellie's health was poor, and they moved to California around the turn of the century. Nellie died soon after. There were no children from this marriage.

J 761 * HATTIE MAE NEWELL: Born Aug. 13, 1883, in LaGrange, Ill. She was one of four children.
(1) Nellie Newell (Baldwin)
(2) Samuel Arthur Newell
(3) Hattie Mae Newell (Iler)
(4) Jeanne Burgess (half-sister) Coon

Carey William Iler was pastor at the church where Hattie Mae Newell attended in Whittier. Hattie graduated from Whittier High School in 1901, and attended college in Whittier. She was married to Carey William Iler, Nov. 24, 1904, in Long Beach, California. They spent their honeymoon on Catalina Island, off the California coast. The pastor who married them, Rev. Petty, and his wife went on their honeymoon with them, to Catalina.

THE TWENTY-THIRD PSALM

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

Parker - Baltzer wedding in Harrow United Church

6-30-76

Janet Eileen Baltzer, Brantford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce E. Baltzer, Harrow, and James Morrison Parker, Brantford, son of Mrs. Margaret Parker, Brantford and the late George Parker, were married in the Harrow United church on the 12th with Rev. D. S. Mannell officiating. In the sanctuary for the rites were tall tapers, baskets of white gladioli and yellow and white daisies.

Mrs. B. Papke played the wedding music and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hamilton were soloists.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight sheer silk with tiny rosebud applique scallops and a matching picture hat. She carried yellow centred daisies and pink baby rosebuds in bow knots, and wore an opal necklace, the gift of the groom.

Mrs. Kathleen Garabedian of Brantford, the matron of honor, wore a frock of pink sheer nylon. Her flowers were similar to those carried by the bride.

The two bridesmaids, Mrs. Joni Baltzer and Mrs. Valerie Baltzer, were both in blue.

Darryl MacDonald of Brantford was the best man. Ushers were Tom Parker and Robert Thompson. The wedding reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Harrow.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Baltzer chose a turquoise sheer knit gown accented by pink baby rosebuds. Mrs. Parker wore a corsage of Talisman roses with her ice peach gown.

When the young couple returns from a trip to Alberta and British Columbia, they will reside in Brantford.

THE REBELLION OF 1837 - 38 IN ESSEX COUNTY

THE ROLE OF GENERAL, THELLER IN THE PATRIOT WAR

JOHN CREECY

MAY 4, 1963

We have heard earlier about the Patriot's War in its broader aspects. Now let's take a look at it through the eyes of one individual... a rather remarkable individual... a little Detroit druggist who bought himself a uniform, pinned a gilt star to his chest, and set out to liberate Canada.

He didn't do it.....but I think it is just possible that he might have, if circumstances had been a little different, for he undoubtedly had many of the attributes of the classic hero.

His name was Edward Alexander Theller. In 1838, when these events took place, he was proprietor of a drug store at 119 Jefferson, between Woodward and Griswold. He also was proprietor of a wholesale grocery at 27 Atwater. He also had a printing shop and published a newspaper called the Spirit of '76, and for a while, in 1840, he served as official printer to the state of Michigan.

He had one more occupation. He was a physician. I mention this last because there seems to have been some doubt about his professional credentials. Not that this mattered, for in those days of free enterprise, we didn't have all these restrictive regulations we have now. If you wanted to practice medicine, you had a perfect right to, and none of this nonsense about going to medical school and getting a license. Somehow, in addition to pursuing these four careers, and presumably spending some time with his devoted wife and children, he still had a good deal of time to stick his nose into the business----not only of other people----but of other countries. Detroit was a lively place while he was around. When he died, in 1859, in California, he was still remembered here with admiration, and the obituary in one of the papers summed up his personality by recalling that when he was sentenced to be hanged for his part in the Patriot's War, he had cheerfully remarked: "How won't I make a pretty tassel hanging on the end of a rope!"

He is described as having black hair, blue eyes and strong, well-formed nose. He was rather plump, about 5 feet 6, good tempered, jovial and popular. He knew Latin, French, Greek and Spanish.

He had been born in 1799, in Ireland. After spending some time in Canada he came to Detroit about 1832. As the events of the Patriot Rebellion unfolded, the defeats of the rebels at St. Charles, St. Eustache and Montgomery's, many refugees found their way to Detroit. Theller was not the only Detrouiter who was sympathetic to them.

We must remember that, throughout most of their history up to that time, Detroit and Windsor had not been divided by national lines. Not until 1796 were the two sides of the river in different countries, and even then the boundary was a little hard to take seriously.

As Theller tells it: Windsor is a small village, situated on the southeast side of the River Detroit, opposite the city, and chiefly deriving its importance from its location, and the facility with which the revenue laws of the United States may be violated.

Two large retail and wholesale stores are established there; and much wealth has been rapidly accumulated by the proprietors, in vending their merchandise to all classes in Michigan, high and low, rich and poor, male and female, who constantly, especially during the spring and summer months, flock in crowds to these stores, and most wonderfully succeed in smuggling across goods of every description.

Piety and patriotism embark in this business without scruple, and the richest carpeting cover the floors of the mushroom nobility of Michigan, and the finest lace ornament the persons of their wives; on all of which offended law has a claim, could its ministers be possessed of the requisite truth.

At this period Detroit was kept in constant excitement at the news arriving daily from the lower province and the arrival of many refugees with heart-stirring narratives of the oppression they had endured and wrongs they had suffered.

Theller had many French Canadian friends in the area. They, and the so-called "provisional governments" of the Patriot group, offered him the commission of brigadier general in the Canadian Revolutionary Service.

The idea was to create another "front" to make a diversion in the Detroit area that would distract the Canadian government forces from other points of attack. Theller entered upon his responsibilities with all the enthusiasm...and all the naivete of Tom Sawyer setting out to be a pirate.

He took an instant dislike to his superior officer, General Thomas Jefferson Sutherland, referring to him as...."a friend of discord, who could promise no other issue than shame and defeat." And he demanded to know...."What spirit could have prompted the provisional government at Navy Island, knowing the man, to send among enthusiastic and warm hearted strangers, devoted to their cause, such a plumed Popinjay and blustering Bobadil?"

But his strongest disfavor was reserved for the English...not as regards individuals, some of whom he liked, but as regards those who typified for him the attitudes and policies of the British Government. He referred to..."The diabolical policy of England toward her Canadian subjects," adding..."Thus, too, has always been her policy with Ireland, staining her bloody escutcheon."

Theller's military participation in the Rebellion was over quickly. On January 8 he found himself in command of the Schooner Ann, the chief vessel of the Patriot Navy. The decisive action took place off Amherstburg, or Malden as it was then known.

At first the Ann did rather well, frightening off another vessel and firing into the crowd on shore. But next evening marked the end of the Ann. Sutherland, from his headquarters on Bob-Lo Island, sent the schooner out to sink a craft which he feared might be used for transportation to the island, where the Patriot troops, about 500 strong, were quartered.

The wind had risen and was blowing directly from the Canadian shore. They weighed anchor and the sailing master believed that he could pilot her in the gale that was then blowing. Says Theller: "As we neared the town, volley after volley was poured into us with considerable effect, and with more skill than the night before... and with the manifest cruel determination of sacrificing life. It was no boys' play now."

"Many of our men were wounded, and considerable damage done to the rigging. Captain Davis, who was holding onto the anchor, was shot in the wrist and groin, of which he afterwards died, and away went the anchor."

"The enemy aimed with fatal precision at the helmsman, and he fled below, leaving the boat to her own will, and as the down-hauls had been cut away by the shot, the sails could not be managed. Unskilled as mariners, confusion reigned among us; and the schooner drifting with the ice, we were in a few moments around on the main shore, our deck presenting an inclined front to the irritated and triumphant marksmen of the enemy."

"The moon was shining bright, and we were easily seen and marked by their riflemen, while they were concealed behind the fences and the trees or an orchard close at hand. All around me were soon disabled. A little boy, a Canadian refugee, engaged in bringing us loaded muskets, was killed in the act, fell overboard, and his body was found on shore next morning. The little time I had to think disclosed my probable fate, in case of surrender. No other alternative seemed left, but a preferable death on the spot; and in the act of discharging the gun myself, I received a blow on the head that felled me to the deck and down the hatchway to the hold. Stunned and senseless, I was dragged out by the victors and placed in custody for future disposition."

Lieutenant William Baby, of the Militia, with about 30 men, waded out in the icy water to board the Ann. By climbing on each others shoulders they gained the deck. There was no sign of resistance. Baby approached the hatchway and ordered Theller by name to appear. Theller handed up his sword and pistols, and Baby gave him a hand to climb out onto the deck.

Theller said: "I surrender to you sir."

Theller, who complained much about the cruel treatment he received from some of his captors, had no cause to complain about Lt. Baby. The other prisoners, 30 or so, were marched to Malden through the icy water. But it had been a hard day for Theller. He complained that he was exhausted and bruised, and would just as soon not participate. Lt. Baby obliged by carrying him in on his shoulders.

He was tried for treason. The jury decided that he was guilty-- if he was a British subject. Theller said he wasn't a British subject-- he was a nationalized American.

When he was brought in for sentencing the judge remarked that Theller had shown no sign of contrition, and that it was an insult to the court that he had come there dressed in his rebel uniform, with his star of command blazoning on his breast.

Theller interrupted the judge to set him straight. As he tells it: "I said that as his Lordship had interrupted ME when I was addressing him, I presumed he would not take it amiss, that I would remind him that I had been robbed of ALL by her majesty's most loyal volunteers when I was captured, and that I had no other clothes but those I wore....." He added that in his humble opinion it was beneath the dignity of the court to take notice of so trivial a matter as that of the dress in which any person should appear.

The judge, apparently a little bowled over by Theller's personality, said: "Why not take off those stars?"

"Because they are fastened on, my Lord, in such a manner that they are not easily taken off. Had they been, they would have been snatched off by some of your volunteer officers who attempted it at Malden."

The judge persisted: "If you were so disposed, sir, you might have cut them off before appearing in this court."

And Theller replied: "I was not disposed, my Lord, to do anything of the kind. I have worn them in this fight. I have worn them since, and I religiously intend to wear them for the brief period which you may allow me to live."

His Lordship then proceeded to pass sentence, which was that Edward A. Theller should be taken from the court to the place from whence he last came--that on Tuesday the 24th day of April, 1838, he should be drawn on a hurdle to the usual place of execution--there to be hanged by the neck until he was dead.... that his body be quartered and given to the surgeon for dissection... and may the Lord have mercy on his soul.

The execution was postponed, awaiting a ruling from London, England, as to the legal points involved. The conviction was upheld--but by this time Theller had escaped from the citadel at Quebec and was on his way back to the United States. He was feted as a hero in Baltimore and Washington, before coming home to Detroit. Here he was tried for violation of this country's neutrality laws and was acquitted. He wrote his book--and it was a pretty good one....and it helped build up a legend that sustained him as he pursued a stormy career for another 20 years. Thus the story of an eloquent, dynamic leader who flourished in Detroit and Windsor 123 years. He was, one might say, a potential hero in search of a war. Who knows what a place he might have occupied in history if he had been able to find a bigger one than the Partiot's Rebellion?

THE SCHOONER ANN ATTACKS AMHERSTBURG

DAVID P. BOTSFORD

APRIL 27, 1963

November and December of 1837 were long-remembered for the continuance of warm and pleasant weather. The lower Great Lakes were navigated with all the ease of summer and indeed this fine weather was to continue more remarkably still through January and up to the middle of February, 1838, when Winter, thus long delayed came down with redoubled force. If the daily weather had been calm and pleasant it was quite otherwise politically. Rebellion, brewing for years, broke out in both Lower and Upper Canada in November, 1837, and soon the whole border between the Canada of that day and the United States was disturbed. The Detroit River was to have its share.

Though 125 years have passed it is still too soon to assess the motives which allowed events to proceed to the stage where blood was shed as the means of bringing about political reform. For many years in Lower Canada there had been in agitation the question of land reform, and, in Upper Canada fiscal reform had equally occupied the field of politics. Briefly, in both Provinces it was the thwarting of the popular will, as expressed in the Legislature, by a constitutionally-entrenched Executive holding in effect a veto power that exasperated certain groups to the point where the ballot was laid aside for the musket and bullet.

The Rebellion broke out in the two Provinces almost at the same time. However, there was little connection then or afterwards during its course between the leaders, Papineau in Lower Canada, and Mackenzie in Upper Canada. It was soon complicated further by the entrance into the fray on the United States side of the border of alien groups bent on setting up a republic in Canada and freeing Canada from British rule. These latter groups were composed of Canadian exiles, mislead idealists, and plain adventurers.

In 1835 the Melbourne administration in the Parliament of Great Britain appointed Lord Gosford as Governor-General of British North America with the exception of Newfoundland. Lord Gosford was under specific instructions to inquire into the state of affairs in Lower Canada. The policy he attempted to inaugurate failed to meet the views of the French leader, Louis Papineau, and at the same time he lost the support of those English-speaking leaders in opposition to Papineau.

A commotion in Montreal between rival political clubs resulted in a riot in which a newspaper office was burned. To hold in check further threatened riots Lord Gosford proclaimed martial law on November 5th, 1837. The same proclamation named eighteen Patriot Leaders and offered rewards for their capture.

Upon this evident failure of his policy of conciliation Lord Gosford resigned under date of November 14th. Troops from Upper Canada were called to the Lower Province as reinforcements though it was known that in Upper Canada certain groups known as political "unions" had been drilling for some time. These "unions" were usually composed of about forty members each and were concentrated in the Districts around Toronto, Hamilton, and London.

On November 16th warrants were issued for the arrest of those persons named in the earlier proclamation. The first arrests near Montreal precipitated the battles of St. Denis and St. Charles on the 23rd and 25th of November. In these battles the Patriots were defeated and the leaders fled to seek refuge in the United States. Meanwhile, in Upper Canada, final dispositions were being made by the Patriot leaders of that Province for the capture of Toronto, the capital. The main instigator of this projected uprising was William Lyon Mackenzie, a former Mayor of Toronto and Member of Parliament, (and destined to be the grandfather of William Lyon Mackenzie King, war-time Prime Minister of Canada of recent memory). The march on Toronto was premature and in the short engagement the Patriots were defeated. Mackenzie escaped and crossed the border at Niagara. Patriots poised for action at other points were dispersed.

All the ensuing actions of the Canadian rebellion from this time on were directed from United States soil at border points on the Quebec frontier, the St. Lawrence River, and Niagara River, and the Detroit.

At Detroit as early as December 8th, 1837, Governor Stephen T. Mason had been informed by the State Department that a rebellion was taking place in Canada. As the month went by refugee Patriots came into Detroit, and many rumours circulated to disturb the public there. This prompted Governor Mason to issue a proclamation on December 28, 1837, urging the citizens to observe the Neutrality laws.

The first incident at Detroit which lead into the Schooner Ann attack was a raid made on the City Jail at Detroit by a band of 30 or 40 men. The military had some 450 stand of arms stored there which earlier had been removed from Fort Gratiot on the St. Clair River when the authorities supposed that place too exposed to adventurers seeking arms. This attack was made at two o'clock in the morning, the guard was overpowered and the arms obtained. Later that same night the schooner Ann was seized and the arms placed aboard. Earlier arrangements to charter or otherwise acquire a steamboat had fallen through. The Ann as it lay at the dock was almost useless as it lacked a main sail. When efforts to obtain a steamboat were unsuccessful the Ann was moved away from the dock and downstream by several small boats rowing her in tow. By this time it was daylight and this action was observed from the Canadian shore. By the time the mouth of the Rouge River was reached friends who had followed along the shore had secured a sail and progress was faster.

Meanwhile, the American authorities had been alerted and the United States Marshal, Conrad Ten Eyck, set out from his residence at Dearborn with a posse and caught up with Ann at Ecorse. Not having sufficient men to effect the arrest of the vessel and its crew, the Marshal proceeded to Detroit. The Ann continued downstream to Gibraltar where a large party of the Patriot adventurers had gathered.

In Detroit that evening at a meeting of the authorities Ten Eyck reported the escape of the Ann with the United States arms aboard. Governor Mason again asked for strict observance of the Neutrality laws, and the United States Attorney called upon the Governor to call out the militia. Up to this time the Brady Guards, a volunteer force, was the only arm the authorities had to keep order. Accordingly, at one o'clock in the morning the local militia was enrolled and set off for Dearborn Arsenal to be outfitted. Governor Mason lead them, part of the way on foot, and in a rain. Outfitted at Dearborn the Detroit militia returned to the city where two steamers had been chartered, the Brady and the Erie, and in the afternoon of January 8th sailed for the lower river to intercept the Ann and recover the stolen arms.

The Patriot adventurers gathered on the Michigan shore of the lower Detroit now numbered some hundreds. They were prepared to invade Canada and proposed to capture Fort Malden at Amherstburg. The arrival of the Ann with its cargo of arms commenced the operation. The Patriots were commanded by "Generals" Sutherland and McLeod while the Ann was commanded by "General" Theller, a well known resident of Detroit. The Patriots ferried themselves with the aid of the Ann and some smaller vessels from Gibraltar to the island of Bois Blanc in Canadian territory. Thus when Governor Mason arrived at Gibraltar he found the Ann out of his jurisdiction and so ordered the Michigan militia to return to Detroit.

At Amherstburg the greatest excitement prevailed. The Ann took up a station just off Fort Malden and from three cannon aboard for two hours threw solid shot and canister into the town. As a measure of precaution when the Patriots were first observed coming down the river, Bois Blanc island opposite the town was occupied by about 300 of the local militia under Col. John Prince, but when the Patriots commenced to cross from Gibraltar the militia hastily returned to the mainland where only a small guard had been left. Thus the Patriots met with no opposition in occupying Bois Blanc.

When the cannon commenced firing from the Ann, the women and children left the town for the country behind Amherstburg where for the next two days they were sheltered in the few farm houses. Reinforcements were now reaching Amherstburg and with this additional fire power more pressure was put on the Ann. On the evening of the second day, the firing from the shore against the Ann was so persistent that General Theller ordered the Ann's anchor raised so the ship could be manouvered behind Bois Blanc Island. When those on the Canada shore saw the Ann in motion the fire directed against it was increased and it was soon seen that the Ann was out of control. The mainsail had fallen and the Ann was drifting with the current. The militia followed its progress keeping pace with it, and firing in the bright moonlight.

When the Ann had drifted about a mile it grounded on Elliott's Point and there the vessel heeled over in such a position so as to expose the whole deck to the firing from the shore, and to make the cannon aboard useless. The crew took refuge below deck, and immediately the Ann was boarded by the militiamen who waded out to it in icy water shoulder-deep. The crew of the Ann were taken prisoners and carried ashore where the wounded were given medical attention. The prisoners were 32 in number and were later tried at special assizes. Some of them with British citizenship were hanged for treason but Theller was sent to Quebec to await transportation from which place he escaped.

Meanwhile, on Bois Blanc Island the Patriots were in great alarm. With the loss of the Ann and its cannons their position was hopeless and all ideas of an invasion of the mainland were given up. General Sutherland, who commanded on Bois Blanc left for Sugar Island in a small boat, and by the next day all the Patriots had left Canadian territory and joined him.

Word of the disaster to the Ann reached Detroit about mid-night and at two o'clock in the morning the steamer Erie was seized by Patriot sympathisers and set off down river. At Gibraltar the Erie took on supplies and sailed to Sugar Island where the Patriots were still assembled waiting for developments. The Windsor clergymen and the District magistrates addressed a memorial to Governor Mason asking him to once again control the Patriots. In response to this appeal Governor Mason sailed down river to see what could be done. At Sugar Island he addressed the Patriots in such terms that of January 11th they broke camp and returned to Gibraltar on the Steamer Erie. Mason secured the return of the U.S. muskets stolen by the Patriots, leaving them under a guard appointed by the Patriots themselves, and returned to Detroit. On the following day the Erie was returned to its owners and so ended the attack on Amherstburg. To-day in the Museum of the Fort Malden National Historic Park visitors can view various relics of the Schooner Ann, the chief of which is its flag, the two-starred flag of the "Republic of Canada" which was cut down from the mast upon its capture. The Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity has erected an historical plaque near the site of the capture at Elliott's Point one mile below Amherstburg, while two of its cannons decorate one of the bastions of old Fort Malden.

THE BATTLES OF FIGHTING ISLAND AND PEELEE ISLAND

N. F. MORRISON, M.A., Ph.D.

MAY 11, 1963

The early weeks of the year 1838 produced plenty of excitement along the Detroit River and Essex County frontier of Upper Canada. First there was the schooner "Ann" episode downriver from Amherstburg in early January, followed by the affairs at Fighting Island and Pelee Island in late February and early March, respectively. While it may be somewhat of an exaggeration to apply the term "battle" to the skirmish at Fighting Island, it is quite permissible to use it with reference to the event at Pelee Island.

The Fighting Island and Pelee Island stories follow.

Fighting Island, an elongated Canadian island in the Detroit River near LaSalle, is well named, because a military encounter took place there during the Patriot War in 1838. At that time the so-called "Patriots" were active along the Detroit River and Lake Erie frontiers of Essex County and elsewhere along the international boundaries. They certainly were not lacking in persistence, for after their January failure at Amherstburg, which had resulted in the capture of the schooner "Ann" by the defenders of Canada, they decided upon another adventure.

There were many rumours and much restlessness during the middle and later part of February, 1838. Much activity centered in the northwestern section of Ohio. Toledo reported the presence of several "Patriot" leaders, including James Mackenzie, son of William Lyon Mackenzie, and "General" Donald McLeod, who was leading the Fighting Island enterprise. The idea behind the seizure of this island was to use it as a base of operations against the Canadian mainland. Apparently when the move was made against Fighting Island, it was in the belief that a strong supporting force of the "Patriots" from Sandusky had already moved into Canada below Amherstburg. The invaders of Fighting Island probably had in mind the "Patriot" force which seized Pelee Island at or about the same time. A contemporary American account describes the Fighting Island incident:

"On Saturday afternoon (February 24, 1838) the patriot forces which had been lurking in small and detached squads between Gibraltar and Toledo collected upon the American shore, opposite Fighting Island, belonging to the British. Their number amounted to between 200 and 300, without any arms except five or six muskets and a small field piece mounted on two rails. In this condition, after receiving and cheering a patriotic speech from General McLeod, who commanded them, they crossed over and took possession of the Island. They did not, we understand, intend to cross until their arms, which were unaccountably delayed, had been received, but they were forced immediately to abandon American territory in order to evade the civil authorities, which, aided by the U.S. troops, were in close pursuit of them. In the course of the night, about 50 stand of arms were conveyed to them on the island.

About daylight on Sunday morning (February 25), the British troops opened fire upon them with grapeshot from the Canadian shore. After receiving two or three shots and returning as many, the Islanders retreated in confusion to the American shore, with three wounded, one severely and two slightly. At the shore they were met by the U.S. troops who arrested and disarmed them as fast as they landed. The British Troops took possession of the island as soon as it was evacuated."

A Canadian who took part in the affair tells of leaving Windsor at 4 a.m. and walking through snow a foot deep to a point opposite the island. A detachment from Amherstburg was already there, sheltered in the lee of a barn from a piercing, cold, northerly wind. According to this eyewitness, some pieces of artillery were placed so as to command "a fair sweep of the island which was covered with a thick growth of burr oaks with their dried leaves still on them." The coming of daylight permitted the defenders of Canadian soil to attack, aided by their artillery, and as indicated in the American account, the invaders were soon in full retreat over the ice toward the United States shore.

Source material relevant to the time shows the United States federal and state authorities willing to co-operate with the British in controlling a potentially explosive situation. Yet between the lines one can sense much unofficial sympathy for the "Patriot" cause which would have become much more evident on both sides of the border had any real success been achieved. How serious things were may be gauged from a statement made at the time in the Provincial Parliament of Upper Canada to the effect that "all the American frontier from Detroit to Plattsburg, was, or, at least, had been in a state of war."

An ominous note also was struck by the report that engineers were surveying the Canadian shore opposite Detroit for the erection of batteries, which rumor Detroit authorities magnanimously refused to believe.

Less serious, perhaps, but also symptomatic of the time was the experience of Dr. James C. White of Detroit who was called upon "to attend on Madam Parent of Windsor, U.C., opposite Detroit, by a man in the employ of Mr. Parent." Dr. White was arrested on his third day in Windsor and ordered deported via ferry route to Detroit. Refusing deportation, the doctor faced trial at Sandwich, where he admitted that "I damned the British government and said the American government was the best." Two days in a cell at Sandwich cooled him off enough to be willing to return home, after posting security to appear at Quarter Sessions in April. In the affidavit which he swore out in Detroit, he stated that there were four American citizens detained in the Sandwich jail without cause at that time.

Following the episode of the schooner "Ann" near Amherstburg in January, 1838, and the skirmish at Fighting Island in February, Loyalist and "Patriot" forces clashed yet again in this area at the beginning of March. The site of this conflict was Pelee Island which had been laid open to invasion by a cold, ice-forming spell, succeeding a long period of mild weather in the earlier part of the winter. A letter from Sandusky, Ohio, reported that on Monday, February 26, 1838, the body of "Patriots" who had been "on the peninsula opposite to this place and in the neighborhood of Port Clinton started on the ice across the lake and landed on Port au Plait Island belonging to Canada." Port au Plait must strike us as a peculiar name for Pelee Island. This correspondent proceeds to tell of the retreat of the McCormick family, owners of the island, who left behind hogs, cattle, etc., which were seized by the invaders, who were, apparently, well armed. The McCormicks reported matters to the military authorities at Fort Malden and aid was soon on the way.

On the clear, cold, winter afternoon of Friday, March 2, a relief force of adequate strength to deal with the situation, moved down the Detroit River to Lake Erie, which they reached at sunset. Eastward along the ice they travelled, arriving at about 11 p.m. at a Colchester tavern where rest and refreshment were provided for the men and horses. About 1 a.m. "The little army" was once more on the move over the ice toward Pelee Island and at sunrise was within a short distance of its goal. In response to sentry alarm the enemy turned out, bayonets glittering in the early morning sunlight. Alarmed by the appearance of the attacking force, which consisted of infantry drawn in sleighs, cavalry and artillery, the enemy retreated into the woods. Their departure was so hurried that they left behind provisions, even to "a kettle of potatoes boiling on the fire." The thick woods and deep snow impeded pursuit by land. A party, therefore, proceeded in sleighs along the ice to the south side of the island to intercept the line of retreat the enemy was expected to follow.

A contemporary American account describes in some detail the events of the day: "The action commenced on Saturday morning (March 3, 1838) and resulted in the "Patriots" being routed and driven from Point au Pelee Island with a loss of nine killed, 40 wounded and 20 prisoners. Col. Seward, who commanded the "Patriot" forces, was among those killed. The British had three killed. The "Patriots", who numbered between 300 and 500, fled in the direction of Sandusky, and were pursued some seven or eight miles by the troops upon the ice. Not a man, we understand, was found upon the island, when it was taken possession of by the British. We suppose that the Canada war may now be considered at an end."

Other accounts tell of the "Patriots" betaking themselves to sleighs which were in readiness and making good their escape, carrying wounded men with them. The blood-stained appearance of the ice indicated a considerable number of casualties. On the line of retreat which the beaten invaders followed was Kelleys Island, then known as Cunningham's Island, after a trader who had lived there just previous to the War of 1812. Sandusky, south from Pelee Island, reported that by 9 p.m. on the day of the battle many of the "Patriots" had already reached that place and more were still arriving. Once more the invaders of Essex County and Canadian territory had been turned back.

Information in a letter dated March 3, 1838, from Amherstburg to Brigadier-General Brady at Detroit reveals the friendly spirit prevailing between Canadian and United States authorities during those troubled days.

"Col. Maitland has this moment returned with the troops from Point au Pelee, having cleared the island of the pirates who were in force there. He states their loss to have been nine killed, about 40 wounded and 20 prisoners -- amongst the former Col. Seward and Capt. Van Rensselaer (nephew of Gen. Van Rensselaer, American associate of William Lyon Mackenzie.)"

"The retreat of the enemy has been intercepted by a portion of our troops. Loss of the British forces, one killed, 20 wounded. We understand that two have since died of their wounds." Later reports showed five fatalities.

Something of an anti-climax occurred on the following day, Sunday, March 4. It involved "General" Sutherland, who had been associated with "General" Theller in the events near Amherstburg in January. Sutherland and his aide, Captain Spencer, were on their way in a cutter to Pelee Island when they met Col. Prince and two companions returning by sleigh to Fort Malden from the scene of battle. Col. Prince placed the two men under arrest and took them to Fort Malden, where rumors of trials for high treason and hangings certain to follow added to the general excitement. The captured officers were shortly thereafter taken to Toronto for trial. A contemporary American source is authority for the preceding.

The historically-minded may still see in the Town of Amherstburg some evidence of this military engagement of long ago. Adjacent to the Parish Hall of Old Christ Church is a monument with inscription which reads as follows:

"This monument is erected by the inhabitants of Amherstburg in memory of Thomas McCartan, Samuel Holmes, Edwin Miller, and Thomas Symonds of H. M. 32nd Reg. of Foot, and of Thomas Parish of the St. Thomas Volunteer Cavalry, who gloriously fell in repelling a band of brigands from Pelee Island on the third of March, MDCCCXXXVIII."

THE BATTLE OF WINDSOR

R. ALAN DOUGLAS

MAY 18, 1963

The "Battle of Windsor", fought in the early morning hours of December 4, 1838, was the last act in a tawdry little drama, the Patriot War, in which private American citizens who were largely ignorant of the real issues at stake, and without official sanction, sought to overthrow the governments of Upper and Lower Canada and convert these two British colonies into republics.

The self-styled Patriots--who were known as Pirates, Brigands, Rebels, and the like in the Canadas--never did seem to understand that the fundamental issue at stake was not the sort of governments that held sway in the British territories; it was the difference in governmental philosophy of the American and European traditions.

Government by the People was the essence of American-style democracy, and yet, in European eyes, the People were by definition those who were governed; this inconsistency made democracy absurd. The People were incompetent to govern themselves. Democracy was government by the peasants; democracy was chaos, and therefore it was to be resisted by the very British subjects in the Canadas whose emancipation the Patriots were seeking. The events of the "Battle of Windsor" raised important questions that ultimately reached the British House of Lords, and the echoes of the engagement did not die down until the autumn of 1839--questions that were of the greatest significance in the career of the battle's principal figure, Colonel John Prince.

The developments of early 1838--the schooner Ann incident, the Battle of Pelee Island, the Battle of Fighting Island--had left the Detroit frontier in a state of turmoil. At a public meeting at the Sandwich courthouse on June 9, Col. Prince, officer commanding at Sandwich, announced that the refusal of the Executive Council of Upper Canada to try the prisoners taken at Pelee Island, pending receipt of advice from Britain, had resulted in their being set free, and that because of this a new invading force was being organized.

Prince held the prisoners to be common pirates, and as such subject to Civil Law. The view at Toronto was that they were prisoners of war, and therefore had to be tried by military authority, to which Prince's reply was that in order to be prisoners of war a state of war had to exist; and since states of war do not exist between private organizations and governments, the central government would have to declare a state of war to exist between two national powers--that is, between the United States and Great Britain.

This inflammatory meeting, together with other minor incidents, induced the Magistrates at Sandwich to take matters somewhat into their own hands; orders went out late in June for the constables along the Canadian shore of the Detroit to seize all small craft for impounding at Sandwich under guard. The immediate motivation was a rumor of a Patriot attack to take place on the appropriate date of July 4. In addition a constable checked passenger arrivals at the ferry landing, and another was posted on the ferry itself.

Although the Independence Day attack failed to materialize, three cannon were seized in August by the Detroit authorities. The rumor that six more had gotten into Patriot hands, however, did little to calm the nerves of the residents of the Canadian shore. Another false alarm was the news of a planned attack on Fort Malden at Amherstburg, in October. Five steamers that were to bring men from such ports as Buffalo and Cleveland never arrived.

By mid-November the reports reaching the ears of both the Canadian and the American authorities were becoming sufficiently accurate that obviously a large-scale attack was being planned. The preparations for the "Battle of Windsor" were among the worst-kept secrets in the history of warfare, and arrangements were made accordingly on the Canadian shore.

An attempt to cross the River on the night of December 2, in the steamer Champlain was frustrated by quantities of drifting ice. It was repeated on the 3rd, and by two or three o'clock on the morning of the 4th a Patriot force of about 150 had landed on the Canadian shore near two windmills, opposite the foot of Belle Isle. The Patriots waited until five o'clock, when they started down to Windsor.

On the way was a yellow, two-story frame building, originally a store or hotel, but now commandeered as a guardhouse for a detachment of militia. The invaders were challenged by a sentry, who in return was shot and wounded. Aroused by the shot, those inside began firing wildly into the darkness.

The Patriots decided to burn the barracks. One of their number went to the house of a Negro living nearby, took a burning faggot from the fireplace, and set fire to the guardhouse. The Negro, for expressing sentiments rather inhospitable to the Patriots, was shot and killed forthwith. It appears that most of the Canadians in the barracks were captured by the Patriots, although they were later allowed to escape as the Patriots beat their own hasty retreat.

In reprisal for the burning of the American vessel Caroline at Niagara Falls the year before, the invaders now took embers from the remains of the guardhouse and fired the steamer Thames, tied up almost in front of the building at Van Allen's wharf. The main body of Patriots, about a hundred strong, marched down Sandwich Street past the front of Francois Baby's house, then turned left toward a fence running west between the Baby house and the dwelling of William Johnson, tore out a section of the fence, and made themselves at home in Baby orchard.

By about 6.30 five companies of Essex Militia were on their way from Sandwich to Windsor. The first two wheeled in from Sandwich

In the same month an anonymous pamphlet appeared, under the title "The Battle of Windsor"--the first time the phrase had been used--accusing Prince of murder and offering a reward for his capture.

On February 11 a duel took place between Prince and W. R. Wood, Deputy Clerk of the Peace. The issue was Wood's refusal to acknowledge his connection with the anonymous pamphlet. As the winter progressed Prince was showered with congratulations wherever he went. As his fame spread and he became a national figure, practically every newspaper rallied to his support.

A military court exonerated him of the alleged murder on March 20, but still the threats continued at Sandwich. During the summer of 1839 Col. Prince set out spring-guns on his property every night as a defense against prowlers or would-be assassins.

By now the Prince question had crossed the Atlantic. On May 30 it was debated in the British House of Lords, although apparently it was talked out without coming to a vote. Nevertheless the pamphleteers continued their work, and on July 14 French translations of the motion of censure that had opened the debate were circulated at the door of Assumption Church.

Since the situation had clearly gotten beyond the power of the personalities involved to control it, a committee of arbitrators was established. They reported to both sides on September 21, 1839, that both Prince and the pamphleteers should acknowledge their haste and rashness in initiating chains of events whose course they did not foresee. Each side signed a document acknowledging its regret, this being, in the words of the committee, "the signal for all further reference to the various matters in dispute being forever buried in oblivion".

So be it.

Rev. Jacob Iler, Jr., son of Jacob and Elizabeth (Snider) Iler

From a newspaper clipping given to Bob Iler, July 5, 1975, from Mrs. Maurice Foster (Annie Iler), whose grandfather was a brother to the above Jacob. Oliver Agley gave this clipping to Annie. He is married to Roxie Butler.

DEATH OF REV. JACOB ILER (Sep. 14, 1818 - Sep. 13, 1912)

For some time the death of Rev. Jacob Iler, which occurred at North Ridge, Friday morning last, has been foreshadowed, as it was well known that his physical strength had been failing ever since an injury he received by being knocked down by a car some time ago. His eyesight also failed the last few months and became so impaired that to his great grief he could not distinguish his old friends except by the sound of their voices. Had he lived one day more he would have been 94 years of age, as he was born September 14th, 1818. Up to the time of his accident he enjoyed splendid health for one of his years, and retained all his faculties to a remarkable degree, his reminiscences when he met with old friends being very interesting, as he was one of the pioneer settlers in the southwestern peninsula, and took part not only in the strenuous work which won the county of Essex from a wilderness to the fair and smiling farms which it presents now, but also in that arduous missionary enterprise which established churches and gathered congregations. Deceased was converted when he was a young man and was baptized by the late Elder Herrington of Gosfield, in Lake Erie, on March 20th, 1841. He preached his first sermon on October 27th, 1842. Some time later he lost the use of his vocal organ through an internal injury caused by being thrown from a horse. He never fully recovered from this injury but in spite of his physical handicap he was ordained to the ministry in July, 1851.

During his ministry he baptized 69 persons. His last person was baptized about six years ago. He was widely known and highly esteemed and his passing away removes one of the well known landmarks of the county. Funeral services were held on Monday in the Iler Settlement Baptist Church by Rev. W. T. Bunt, of Essex; Rev. J. F. Reycraft, of Gesto, and Rev. W. H. Ebersole, of Kingsville, and the remains were laid to rest in the Iler cemetery near where deceased was born.

The pallbearers were six nephews--Sol., Leonard, Henry, Samuel F., Richardson and Frank B. Iler.

Rev. Jacob Iler was a remarkable character for one who was what is known as a "self-made" man. Without seminary or high school training, he educated himself and made for himself a lasting place in the hearts and lives of the people of Essex County. He was a farmer, doctor and preacher, having a thorough knowledge of cancers, tumors, etc., and treated hundreds of patients in the western district. He was a son of Jacob Iler and Elizabeth Snyder, of Colchester South, and was born on lot 37 in that township. His father came originally from Pennsylvania, settled on Grosse Isle, but during the war of 1812 left there and settled on lots 37, 38 and 39, Colchester South, where he erected the first sawmill in the township. The dam is now the road bed of the lake road. The foundation is there yet.

He was married and raised the following family: Mrs. Susan (Granny) Arner, David Iler, Solomon Iler, Mrs. Joseph Coatsworth (mother of G. Watson Coatsworth). Mrs. Elder Herrington, John Iler, Samuel Iler, Mrs. Jacob Baltzer and Jacob, subject of this sketch. The latter's wife was Mary Ann Buchanan, daughter of the late Gordon Buchanan, of Colchester South, and sister of the late John G. Buchanan. They had a family of eight children: William, Jessie and Erie, deceased; Mrs. Jared Bissel, Gosfield South; Mrs. Cordelia Parker, Detroit; Fred, and Mrs. Wm. Downey, of Gosfield North, and Mrs. Enoch Jackson, of Hamilton.

Mr. Iler served in the rebellion of 1837-38, and was present at the taking of the schooner Ann and the battle of Pelee Island. He was baptized in 1841, and was stationed as Baptist preacher at Olinda, Mt. Brydges and Dorchester. Thirty-five years ago he moved to Gosfield North, and six years ago to North Ridge with his son Fred. Mrs. Iler died in July, 1908.

To the Ilers:

Rev. Jacob Iler was a brother to my great, great grandfather, Solomon Iler, I, who married Hannah Coatsworth; they had Solomon Iler, II, who married Elizabeth Malott; they had Edgar who married "Winnie" Wright.....
